Red Boss Hoots At Ike's Report Of 'Clean' Bomb

Khrushchev's Scorn Stings White House

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 11 (AP)—Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev called "stupid" today President Eisenhower's report on the possibility of a "clean" hydrogen bomb.

In a speech in this Communist capital, the victor in the latest Kremlin shakeup declared: "President Eisenhower is a talented man of great principles. But look at what a stupid thing he says when he says there is a clean hydrogen bomb. How can you have a clean bomb to do a dirty thing? It means the destruction of women and children. What a contradiction! They call dirty things clean."

(The White House issued a statement saying: "It is rather amazing that Mr. Khrushchev would think efforts by American scientists to eliminate dangerous fallout from atomic explosions is 'a stupid thing.' The avoidance of mass destruction in an atomic war is and has been a prime objective of President Eisenhower and his administration, no less than the aim of eliminating the possibility of war itself. Such efforts to which the United States is dedicated are and will be continued.")

President Eisenhower told his June 26 news conference scientists had informed him that possibly within four or five years they might produce an "absolutely clean" H-bomb. This would be a bomb free of radioactive strontium-90 fallout which can contaminate vast areas. Present bombs are called "dirty" because of the high amount of fallout involved. A "clean" bomb could be concentrated on military targets.

Khrushchev, here with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin on what is advertised as a goodwill visit, made his comment toward the end of an hour talk to cheering workers at Prague's Stalingrad metallurgical plant.

He made these other points:

1. "Liberalism and gradualism" apparently meaning relaxation of iron Communist rule and permitting evolutionary change in Red-governed countries, are considered sins against the world Communist movement.

2. Development of Communist-brand socialism can be according to "national peculiarities" such as those claimed by Yugoslavia. Khrushchev indicated he intends to meet Yugoslav President Tito soon in an effort to heal completely the rift opened by Stalin in 1948.

3. United action by the world's Communists still is an important factor of Soviet policy. Khrushchev said the Russians "consider it our sacred and proletarian task to help the working class of other countries."

Aged Aga Khan Dies; Aly Seen As Successor

GENEVA, July 11 (AP)—Aga Khan III, Moslem potentate and high-living horse-race king, died today without disclosing who would succeed him on the throne of the Ismaili sect. He was 79.

Two sons, Princes Aly Khan and Sadruddin, are considered in the running and each has been mentioned as a probable successor.

A family spokesman, Hussein Ali, said soon after the aged man died at his lakeside village in suburban Versoix that the Aga "entrusted the secret of his succession to a noble person, who will reveal it in due course."

Hussein Ali spoke to reporters after emerging from a 2-hour hotel room conference with 46-year-old Aly, ex-husband of Rita Hayworth.

The 20 million Ismailis are scattered in tightly knit religious communities from China to South Africa, and some are in the Soviet Union.

The wealthy Aga had ruled his Ismaili realm for 71 years — since he ascended the gadi (throne) at age 8 in Bombay on the death of his father. He was born in Karachi (now capital of Pakistan) and took the name title of his grandfather, a fugitive Persian aristocrat.

The Ismaili Moslems recognized him as their sovereign and paid him a yearly tribute of gold, diamonds and platinum poured out in scales against the Aga's weight.

Britain, France and other countries treated him as a monarch in his own right but he had no home country as such. His Ismaili communities—including those beyond the Iron Curtain—were autonomous under his reign.

Some Moslem sources speculated that Aly Khan as the elder, was most likely to succeed to the reign.

They said the Aga will be buried either in Aswan, Egypt, a major Ismaili center, or in holy Mecca, in Saudi Arabia, the burial place of both his parents.

Rita "Sorry, Upset" By Aga Khan's Death

HOLLYWOOD, July 11 (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth, former daughter-in-law of the Aga Khan, said today upon being advised of his death in Geneva:

"I am terribly sorry and upset to hear of the Aga's passing but I am consoled by the fact that at least Yasmin was able to be there to see him."

Yasmin is Miss Hayworth's daughter by Prince Aly Khan.

Van Fleet 'Burned Up'

AUBURNDALE, Fla., July 11 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today he personally is "really burned up" over release of GI William S. Girard to the Japanese for trial, but that legally and morally the United States must live up to its obligations under the status-of-forces agreement with Japan.

U.S. Soldier Faces Nippon Court Aug. 26

Judge Promises Fairness, Speed In Deciding Case

TOKYO, Friday, July 12 (AP)—District Judge Juzo Kawachi announced today he will open the trial of U.S. Army Specialist William Girard at 10 a.m. Aug. 26—8 p.m. EST, Aug. 25 — at Maebashi.

He said he will give Girard a fair and fast trial on charges of inflicting bodily injury that killed a Japanese woman scrap gatherer on a firing range Jan. 30.

There is no jury trial in Japan.

Kawachi was roused from sleep before dawn for comment on the U.S. Supreme Court decision to permit Japan to try the 21-year old Illinois soldier. He said he was not surprised at the court's decision.

October Windup Planned

Court attaches said Kawachi and Itsuro Hayashi, Girard's Japanese defense lawyer, fixed trial sessions for Sept. 6, 7, 13, 14 and Oct. 4.

They said Kawachi wants to wind up the trial in October. A trial usually takes six months in Japanese court proceedings.

Court officials said that because Girard has never withdrawn the statement he filed with the court, naming Hayashi as his defense attorney, the court considers that Hayashi remains as Girard's attorney.

Fair, Fast Trial Promised

"I am going to give Girard as fair and fast a trial as possible," said Kawachi. "I want to express my personal respect to the honorable justices of the U.S. Supreme Court for their decision."

Girard was awakened by Maj. Stanley Levin, his Army legal adviser, to hear the news of the Washington decision. Girard said only that he was "not surprised." His Japanese bride, Haru (Candy) Girard, was not available for comment.

"I'm not too surprised at the court's decision," said Levin. "As far as Japanese courts are concerned, I have always held the opinion both publicly and privately Girard would receive a fair trial before a Japanese court."

Foreign Aid Chief Quits

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—John B. Hollister resigned as foreign aid administrator today. He said the mutual security program is in many cases a "gamble" but must be continued "as long as aggressive international communism threatens us."

President Eisenhower accepted the resignation in a "Dear John" letter, saying it will become effective when a new director of the International Cooperation Administration is approved by the Senate.

Hollister's resignation has been in the wind for several weeks. James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said today that no successor has been chosen.

Some Democratic Congress members have been reported booming Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America and chairman of the International Development Advisory Board, for the job.

Part Of FBI 'Raw' Files Opened In Clinton Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 11 (AP)—The government yielded segments of its secret FBI "raw" files in the four-day-old Clinton segregation trial today. But it fought tenaciously to save every possible scrap from hard-probing defense lawyers.

Under a ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor, U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. ceremoniously handed over to the defense a transcription of a witness' statement to the FBI.

After studying the document overnight, Taylor ruled that the statement—made by Robert G. Crossno, chairman of the Anderson County (Clinton) School Board—was pertinent to the trial of 16 defendants on criminal contempt charges in U.S. District Court here.

As such, the judge said, the defense was entitled to know what Crossno, as a witness here, had told the FBI during its investigation of mob violence which erupted in the little town of Clinton, 20 miles northwest of Knoxville, last fall.

But Crawford fought to keep back every possible bit of information a little later when chief defense counsel Robert L. Dobbs, Memphis, demanded a similar FBI transcript of an oral statement by another witness, J. M. Burkhart, 60. Burkhart resigned last February after 16 years as a member of the school board.

Crawford, following a now well-established pattern, submitted Burkhart's FBI statement to Taylor, who has ruled that he will be the final arbiter on all such FBI data turned over to the defense.

Rights Bill Compromise Talk Called "Premature"

Shocked By Court Ruling

After learning that the Supreme Court had upheld a decision to turn over her son, Army Specialist 3/c William Girard, to Japan for trial in the killing of a Japanese woman, Mrs. Dorothy Girard is comforted by another son, Louis, as they sit on his porch in Ottawa, Ill. Louis said the family had made "no plans yet" to attend William's trial. "None of us thought the decision would go that way," Louis said. (AP Photofax)

Inaccurate, Senate Told By Johnson

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Senate's Democratic leader said today it was premature to talk of a possible civil rights compromise. Nevertheless, some GOP sponsors of the bill moved toward narrowing its provisions.

Compromise talk at this time, said Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, is "both premature and inaccurate."

He told the Senate, meeting an hour and a half earlier than usual to debate the civil rights legislation, that there is no way to predict the outcome at the present time.

"There is quite some distance to go before the end result even begins to take shape," Johnson said.

Case Plans Amendment

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) had disclosed earlier that he is drafting an amendment which would confine the enforcement provisions of the bill to the single field of protecting voting righhts of Negroes and other minorities.

This would go some distance toward meeting the violent objections of Southern Democrats to the legislation, which has been passed by the House.

Sens. Clifford Case (R-NJ) and Kuchel (R-Calif) said in separate interviews they support the principle of Sen. Francis Case's proposal.

Opposition speakers have contended the bill in its present form would empower the federal government to force school integration and other racial changes on the Southern states.

Debate On "High Plane"

Johnson told the Senate he knew of no compromise efforts "nor do I consider the study of this bill as being intended for compromise purposes."

"The discussion arises, in my opinion," he said, "because the debate has been conducted on a high plane, free of rancor and bitterness."

Johnson is expected to vote against the bill, at least in its present form, and against any effort to limit debate on it.

Compromise talk increased on Capitol Hill yesterday after Sen. Russell (D-Ga) had a 50-minute conference with President Eisenhower and reported the President's mind "is open . . not closed to amendments which would clarify the bill."

Senate Agrees To Hold Off On 24-Hour Sessions

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—By unanimous agreement, the Senate decided late today it will not start round-the-clock sessions on the civil rights bill at least until Saturday.

Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas, who engineered the agreement, said he hoped the senators could get together later on a definite time to vote on a motion to bring the controversial legislation to the floor.

The Senate has been debating the motion in overtime sessions since Monday.

Johnson said he favored a vote next Wednesday. Others sought a vote Monday and some wanted one today.

The fact that "some 18 or 20 senators" still want to make speeches on the motion, the Democratic leader said, made it impossible to fix a voting time now. The time must be fixed by unanimous agreement.

Mock H-Bombs To Hit Scores Of Cities Today

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Imaginary death and devastation will be poured on American cities tomorrow to launch the nationwide civil defense and mobilization exercise: Operation Alert 1957.

State and city civil defense authorities are preparing to fly into action as if at the outbreak of World War III, but no team knows yet whether its own city is among those chosen for mock nuclear blast, fire and fallout.

In Washington, President Eisenhower and staff will be lifted in a fleet of 14 helicopters and flown to a secret site fitted out as the civilian command center of a country at war.

This will provide the first full test of the new helicopter system of White House evacuation. Twenty-four staff aides and 16 correspondents will be picked up.

About 5,000 government officials and key employes have been alerted for a less spectacular removal three days later. They will simply report for duty Monday at 80 relocation centers maintained by 30 agencies in several states.

For three weeks these officials have been operating in Washington under simulated conditions of mounting world tension and "deteriorating international relations."

This has been the "preparedness" phase of the exercise. Skeleton staffs have been dispatched by agency heads to prepare the relocation sites for emergency use if "the worst" should happen.

Phase 2 begins here at noon tomorrow when air raid sirens sound the alert signal. Sometime later in the afternoon, here and in scores of other cities, the "take cover" signal will be sounded.

This phase will last through Sunday. The state and local civil defense organizations will test their ability to cope with the horrors of atomic war.

Judge Frees Peck, Blasts Red Hunters

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—A federal judge ruled today that Senate Red-hunters violated the constitutional rights of a witness by trying to compel him to disclose past political associations.

In a decision sharply critical of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, U.S. Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl threw out the contempt of Congress conviction of Seymour Peck, New York newspaperman.

On March 26, a jury in Youngdahl's court convicted Peck of unlawfully refusing to tell the subcommittee the names of onetime fellow Communists. Youngdahl fined Peck $500 and gave him a 30-day suspended sentence.

The U.S. Court of Appeals recently returned the case to him for reconsideration in the light of the Supreme Court decision June 17 reversing the contempt conviction of labor organizer John T. Watkins.

Giving the Watkins decision a broad interpretation, Youngdahl called it "the restoration of concern for individual liberties to its traditional high place in the judicial system, and the recognition of the practical effects of such investigations."

Peck testified before the subcommittee in January 1956, during a series of hearings into alleged Communist infiltration into media of mass communications.

Peck said he had been a member of the Young Communist League and the Communist party in the past, and balked only when asked to name others. He said he had severed all party ties years before he went to work for The New York Times, where he is employed as a desk man on the paper's Sunday magazine.

Youngdahl said the Peck case 'exemplified the abuses the Supreme Court sought to curtail" in its Watkins decision.

The judge said the subcommittee's hearings constituted a "serious threat to freedom of thought and expression" and consisted of questioning persons employed in the newspaper field, in radio and television.

"To inhibit the freedom of thought and association of newspapermen is to infringe upon the freedom of the press," Youngdahl said.

Ex-GI Turns Up In Hong Kong; Had Vanished

HONG KONG, Friday, July 11 (AP)—Donald Jackson Blackwood, a Cincinnati salesman, and his South Korean wife and child, returned here today. They vanished mysteriously on a trip to Portuguese Macao April 28.

He refused to say whether they had gone to Communist China.

He and the family appeared to be well.

They arrived quietly on the Macao ferry early today and went immediately to a hotel. Blackwood told a reporter he might talk tomorrow.

He said by telephone, "I won't want to talk now. I'd rather not say anything. I prefer to see you tomorrow."

Pressed to say whether he had gone to the China mainland, as reported by Macao authorities after his disappearance, he replied, "I'd rather not say."

Blackwood, 25, is the son of a Cincinnati restaurant owner. He was a sergeant in the U.S. Air Force in Korea, then worked for a clothing firm in Seoul.

He and his wife and their son, now 10 months old, came here April 26 for what was to have been a two-day visit.

Probers Deny Baiting Trap To Snare Hoffa

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The chairman and counsel of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee today denied in court they baited a trap to snare Midwest Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa.

Hoffa is on trial for an alleged bribery-conspiracy plot to obtain the committee's secrets.

The testimony was given by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), the committee's chairman, and Robert F. Kennedy, its chief counsel.

The four-week-old trial began to move swiftly after U.S. Dist Judge Burnita S. Matthews declared a mistrial as to Hoff's codefendant, Miami attorney Hyman I. Fischbach, whose counsel had become ill. Fischbach is to be tried later.

Actress Vivien Leigh's Shouting Act Flops, Ejected From House Of Lords

LONDON, July 11 (AP)—Vivien Leigh, distinguished actress, was chased out of the House of Lords tonight for the hammy act of shouting from the gallery. She was provoked by a slighting remark on British artistry.

"It was a matter of impulse," snapped the Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone With the Wind," who is the wife of the distinguished actor Sir Laurence Olivier.

Sir Laurence was sitting beside her when she got the noble heaveho.

Sir Laurence wisely said nothing.

Miss Leigh entered the August House with her husband and Sir John Rothenstein, director of London's Tate Gallery, to listen to a debate on the state of art in Britain.

She and her companions followed every word as Viscount Esher described Britain as an "artistic desert."

He demanded five million pounds—14 million dollars — for art immediately and 2½ pounds —17 million dollars—for the nation's Arts Council annually.

This was heady wine for Miss Leigh.

"What we need," interrupted Lord Silkin, "is a new approach to art."

Then "Scarlett" proceeded to give them a new approach.

Rising in her seat, she shouted: "My lords, I wish to protest against the St. James Theater being demolished."

The actress never delivered a line with less effect on her listeners.

"They did not move a muscle," she confessed later.

As she delivered her line, Sir Brian Horrocks, gentleman usher of the Black Rod—a fancy word for sergeant at arms or bouncer —moved in on her and escorted her out.

From the floor the robed peers shot frigid looks in her direction.

Miss Leigh is currently leading a London campaign against the demolition of the old St. James Theater. A group of businessmen want to tear it down and put up an office building.

High Tribunal Upholds Pact By 8 To 0 Vote

Congress Renews Demand For Steps To Revise Accord

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Supreme Court, in an 8-0 decision of far-reaching import, today cleared the way for Japan to try GI William S. Girard for manslaughter.

The high tribunal ruled that the Eisenhower administration violated no provision of the Constitution or laws when it waived any right to try Girard by U.S. Army court-martial and decided instead to turn him over to Japan.

The eight justices upheld the legality of the status-of-forces agreement between the United States and Japan. This pact gives the primary right to try American servicemen to the United States in some cases and to Japan in others. It also provides that one nation shall give "sympathetic consideration" to waiving its right on request from the other nation.

After a dispute with Japan as to who had the primary right in the Girard case, top-ranking American officials decided to allow Japan to try the soldier in connection with the fatal shooting of a Japanese woman scavenging for scrap metal on a rifle range which American and Japanese forces shared. This decision was approved by President Eisenhower.

Fair Trial Promised

The Supreme Court expressed no opinion as to the wisdom of the waiver provision as applied in the Girard case. It said merely that since there is no constitutional or statutory barrier against it, "the wisdom of the arrangement is exclusively for the determination of the executive and legislative branches."

The decision was hailed as "good news" by the Japanese ambassador here, and in Japan Girard was promised a "fair and fast trial."

But in Congress there were renewed demands for action to scrap or change the status-of-forces pacts which have been signed with about 50 nations. Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) called the court decision "another assault on the Constitution of the United States."

A number of Southerners angry over the Supreme Court decision in school segregation and other cases were quick to dissent from the Girard decision as well. Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said, "Girard has been cast in the role of a sacrificial lamb."

Wilson Pledges Aid To GI

Secretary of Defense Wilson quickly issued a statement that the United States "will render every possible assistance to Girard and his counsel in the protection of his rights."

Wilson expressed confidence the Japanese trial "will be conducted with utmost fairness."

Wilson had previously said that if the status-of-forces pacts were cancelled, the United States would have to pull its forces out of foreign lands and retire to a "fortress America."

The U.S.-Japanese agreement about servicemen's trials was entered into under a mutual security treaty which became effective April 28, 1952. One article of the treaty authorized the making of administrative agreements between the two countries concerning the "conditions which shall govern the disposition of the armed forces of the United States in and about Japan."

Chief Justice Warren read today's decision in a clear, firm voice in a well-filled courtroom. It said that the Senate ratified the security treaty after considering the administrative agreement, which had already been signed.

NATO Ratification Noted

It further noted that the Senate subsequently ratified the North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreement, knowing that when the NATO pact went into effect the United States and Japan planned to conclude another status-of-forces agreement similar to provisions in the NATO document.

The court made public today for the first time details of allegations that Girard induced the Japanese woman he is accused of slaying to come forward and pick up scrap metal, then shot her in the back.

The allegations are contained in a sworn statement by Robert Dechert, general counsel of the Defense Department, in a review of the Girard case.

The affidavit was mentioned in proceedings both in the District and the Supreme Court. Government lawyers said it had not been made public because it would be prejudicial to Girard whether he was tried in Japanese courts or by an Army court-martial.

McKeldin Appoints State Government Study Commission

ANNAPOLIS, July 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today named 12 Maryland officials to serve on a "self-survey commission," charged with the broad job of studying the state government and recommending changes.

The self-survey group replaces the Commission on State Problems, Oranization and Finance, which went out of existence June 1. Its members are empowered to appoint study committees and to enlist outside advice and assistance.

The new commission was expected to be primarily a citizens group similar to its two predecessors, known more familiarly as the Green and Sobeloff commissions.

But McKeldin said he decided to select only persons serving in state offices, agencies or institutions, or, as in one instance, serving with a closely-affiliated agency of a political subdivision.

The governor named Enos S. Stockbridge, chairman of the Board of Correction, to head the self - survey commission. Stockbridge was a member of the Commission on Administrative Organization of the State and its second chairman.

Others on the new commission are John B. Funk of the Planning Commission; James G. Rennie, director of the Department of Budget and Procurement; Dr. Alvin Thalheimer, chairman of the Board of Public Welfare; Frances V. DuPont of the Public Service Commission; Charles D. Harris of the Employes Standard Salary Board; E. Dale Adkins, former state senator and circuit court judge now serving on the board of trustees of Morgan State College.

Also, Russell S. Davis, state Commissioner of Personnel; Joseph Meyerhoff, chairman of the Planning Commission; Dr. Ernest L. Stebbins, member of the Advisory Council on Hospital Construction and the Mental Hygiene Board and director of the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene; Francis A. Davis, chairman of the Baltimore City Welfare Advisory Commission, and G. Kenneth Reiblich, professor of law at the University of Maryland.

In a prepared statement announcing appointment of the commission, McKeldin said he decided to name only state officials "after thorough consideration and consultation with advisors, both in and out of the government."

"This is done, however," he said, "with the understanding that the commission . . . may . . . call upon public-spirited private citizens and selected groups . . . of citizens for consultation and advice on policies, plans and proposals as the studies progress."

McKeldin said he anticipates that surveys will be conducted simultaneously in various state departments and agencies and that much of the actual study work will be done by "alert, capable and interested state officials and employes" designated by the commission.

Boy, 7 Pedals Bike 22 Miles To See Grandma

HAGERSTOWN, July 11 (AP)—A 7-year-old Chambersburg, Pa. boy who wanted to see his grandmother 22 miles away in Hagerstown took matters into his own hands—and feet.

Young Lawrence Truett hopped on his small two-wheel bicycle and pedaled over for a visit yesterday with his grandmother, Mrs. Roy Kilmer.

One thing Larry, forgot to do was tell his parents.

They were so glad when Grandma called to say Larry was safe they skipped any thought of a spanking, Mrs. Kilmer said.

Young Truett made the 22 mile jaunt along U.S. 11 in four hours.

U.S. Stands By Plan For Short Ban On H-Test

LONDON, July 11 (AP)—The United States refused to yield today in its demand that any initial period for the suspension of hydrogen bomb tests be limited to 10 months.

Harold E. Stassen told the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee it was not a question of choosing between 10 months and a suspension of two to three years, as Russia had demanded. The choice, Stassen said, is between a 10-month suspension or no suspension at all.

Stassen, who previously had been challenged by Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin to "show us your arguments," listed a number of points to back up his claim that the initial suspension should be for the 10-month period.

He said the shorter period would be less controversial and would have a better chance of acceptance by a large number of governments. He said it would offer a fair test of the intentions of either side toward halting the hydrogen bomb race.

Gas Company Rate Increase Suspended

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Federal Power Commission today suspended, pending a hearing and decision, a proposed $1,899,000, or 8.7 per cent, annual natural gas rate increase by Gulf Interstate Gas Co., of Houston, Tex.

The company has one customer, United Fuel Gas Co., of Charleston, W. Va., which serves areas in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Industrialist Dies At Hopkins

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP) — W. Frank Roberts, for decades a leader in Baltimore industry, business, charities and civic work, died today at Johns Hopkins Hospital after a short illness. He was 78.

He was president of the hospital board of trustees from 1948 until 1955.

Born in a small Pennsylvania mining town, he grew up in Hazleton and attended Lehigh University.

The late Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, picked him as one of a small group of men to be trained especially for executive positions in the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Roberts became a vice president in 1916 and was sent to Baltimore to develop and expand the Sparrows Point plant. He was general manager from 1918 until his retirement 10 years later.

Within two months he became president and board chairman of the Standard Gas Equipment Co. He also was a director of the American Gas Assn., Baltimore Mail Steamship Co., Black & Decker Manufacturing Co., Cottman, Co., the Hopkins Place Savings Bank and the Miners Transportation Co.

Washington National Pike Work Ordered

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP)—The State Roads Commission said today it has ordered immediate construction of a new section of the Washington National Pike, south of Rockville.

Notice to proceed was sent this week to J. O. & V. M. Stuart Inc. of Washington, low bidder at $2,177,373 for construction of 2.8 miles of dual lane highway, two steel beam bridges and a steel plate girder bridge.

The work will begin about 2,100 feet north of Tuckerman Lane and extend to a point 200 feet east of Grosvenor Lane. The Washington National Pike already is open to traffic from Frederick to Rockville.

Thrill Slayer Of Boy Cancels TV Appearance

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP) — Nathan Leopold, who is serving an 85-year prison term for his part in the widely publicized 1924 thrill slaying of a Chicago youth, has canceled a scheduled TV appearance on grounds it might jeopardize his current clemency appeal.

Leopold, 52, was to appear tonight on NBC's "Tonight" show. He was to have been interviewed by Chicago Sun-Times columnist Irvin (Kup) Kupcinet.

The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board has taken under advisement a plea made by Leopold Tuesday that it recommend his immediate release or commutation of his sentence.

Richard Loeb, convicted with Leopold for the thrill killing of Bobby Franks, 14, was slain by another prison inmate nearly 20 years ago.

Anti-Soviets Beat Hungarian Officer

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 11 (AP)—A provincial newspaper reported today an anti-Russian demonstration in a west Hungarian village during which a Communist police officer was beaten up—"just like in October."

The paper, Dunantuli Naplo, said the demonstration developed when spectators booed the showing of a Russian film in the village of Hird. When a policeman remonstrated with the audience he was beaten up. Later the crowd pursued him with threats of lynching, but he escaped. Provincial authorities have instituted punishment proceedings, the paper added.

Michigan's upper peninsula once produced half the world's supply of copper. Now it furnishes only four per cent of the domestic supply.

Huge Balloon Lifts Two Tons 104,000 Feet In Test

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP)—The Air Force said today the world's largest balloon—200 feet in diameter—successfully lifted nearly two tons of equipment to an altitude of over 104,000 feet in a recent research test.

The Air Research and Development Command said the record lift by the huge balloon, which itself has a weight of 1,500 pounds and a volume of 3,750,000 cubic feet, was staged June 28 near New Brighton, Minn.

ARDC called it the heaviest load ever carried by a balloon.

Brig. Gn. H. F. Gregory, commander of ARDC's Office of Scientific Research (OSR), said the test, one of a series which will continue over the summer, was a preliminary to an attempt to fire an upper atmosphere research rocket from a similar balloon.

The helium-filled balloon was launched at the General Mills Co. flight test center near New Brighton. Information was transmitted to ground receiving stations from instruments carried in the balloon. All of the military equipment and instrumentation—nearly two tons of it—carried aloft was automatically released at the 104,000 - foot level some five and a half hours after the balloon left the ground.

The instruments, including camera equipment which photographed the flight, and recorded the balloon's behavior, were recovered by parachute.

Dr. Morton Alperin of Pasadena, Calif., director of Advance studies of OSR said the next step will be the firing, from a similar balloon floating above 100,000 feet, of a rocket designed to penetrate the upper atmosphere to a distance never before attained by any man-made device.

Dr. Alperin said the project is intended to bring Air Force scientists heretofore unobtainable data on cosmic rays, the earth's magnetic field and other phenomena of outer atmosphere.

Ulbricht Seen On Purge List

BERLIN, July 11 (AP)—The Stalinist rule of Walter Ulbricht, boss of Communist East Germany, tottered today under the backlash of the Moscow purge.

Reliable East Berlin sources said Ulbricht, Communist party secretary, has come under attack within his own Central Committee. There is a rising chorus of demands for easing Ulbricht's Stalinist police grip.

The informants said "liberal Communists" are looking for some gesture of approval from Soviet party chief Nikita Khrushchev to put spade-bearded Ulbricht on the skids.

The West Berlin newspaper Der Abend quoted Communist sources as saying two members of the East German Politburo—Heinrich Rau and Karl Schirdewan—have broken with Ulbricht.

The gathering revolt within the party was sparked by Khrushchev's purge of Stalinists V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich, who were closely linked with Ulbricht.

Junior Colleges To Boost State Teacher Output

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP)—The State superintendent of schools told the State Planning Commission today the system of junior colleges being developed in Maryland will relieve some pressure on the teachers colleges and help turn out more instructors.

There are now three junior colleges in the state, one each in Baltimore, Montgomery County and Hagerstown. Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr. told the planning commission two more in Baltimore County, and one each in Harford and Frederick counties will be in operation by next fall.

These junior colleges, along with expanded facilities requested for the five State teachers colleges, Dr. Pullen said, will about double the state's output of teachers in a few years.

Dr. Pullen appeared before the commission in support of Department of Education requests for $4,423,100 in "urgent" capital improvement projects for fiscal 1959. Other proposed capital improvement projects which Pullen says are deferable to later years total $10,875,900.

The urgent requests include $616,400 for Bowie State Teachers College; $731,400 Frostburg State Teachers; $757,500 Salisbury State, $1,287,000 Towson State and $1,030,770 Copping.

Dr. Pullen said there is need for obtaining 1,000 more teachers each year to meet the school enrollment, which is growing by 30,000 children annually.

He said the increase will not stop any time soon because there are now more children under school age than in the total enrollment of the first eight school grades.

Col. Elmer F. Munshower appeared before the commission asking for $440,300 for State Police capital improvements. The major item, he said, is for a $184,200 new barracks between Reisterstown and Westminster.

It was planned by the Marylanders to dramatize their efforts to have Baltimore, Friendship International Airport and Washington linked by helicopter service.

Girl Expected To Survive Crash

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Louise Heinzel, 17-year-old driver of a stolen car that crashed after a high-speed police chase yesterday, was reported today to have a good chance of recovering from injuries.

Physicians at Casualty Hospital, where the McAdoo, Pa., girl is being treated for a broken neck and other injuries, said she should recover without permanent disability.

But when she leaves the hospital she will face an inquest for technical homicide in the death of her 15-year-old companion, Patsey Zabrosky, also of McAdoo. Patsy was killed when the car in which the girls were fleeing from police hit a streetcar loading platform at more than 100 m.p.h.

Police said Miss Heinzel also will face charges of speeding, reckless driving, and driving without a permit.

Louise was visited last night by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Heinzel. Hospital attendants said Mrs. Heinzel fainted soon after she entered her daughter's hospital room but was revived and remained with Louise for about an hour.

Retired Academy Librarian Succumbs

ANNAPOLIS, July 11 (AP)—James Moore Saunders, retired associate librarian at the U. S. Naval Academy, died yesterday at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in Baltimore. He was 66.

A native of Tennessee, he had retired last April after 42 years of service at the Academy.

He twice received civil service awards for meritorious work at the academy library. One award, presented last year, was in recognition of his work in developing a classification system for aeronautical literature.

Survivors include his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Leslie W. Johnston Jr. of Arlington, Va., and Miss Betty Jane Saunders of Annapolis; two sons, a 1.C Robert E. Saunders, with the Navy, and William J. Saunders of Annapolis.

Funeral services will be held here Saturday.

Planning Group Hears Requests

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP) — The State Planning Commission today began hearing requests from various State departments and agencies for $78,499,400 worth of capital improvement projects.

The requests from 10 agencies involve 305 projects and include $24,631,900 labeled "urgent," and $53,867,500 described as deferable.

Last year, Maryland agencies asked for more than 66 million for capital improvements and said $28,864,397 of that was for urgent projects. The commission, after extensive screening, recommended a bond issue of $13,545,800. The General Assembly increased the total to $16,806,100.

Screening started today on requests from the State Department of Education, State Police and Morgan State College which asked for a total of $20,846,300, of which $5,960,300 was termed urgent.

Four more agencies will be heard tomorrow after which the hearings will be recessed until mid-August.

Enzyme Is Possible Key To Virus Disease Control

BERKELEY, Calif., July 11 (AP)—A chemical which helps viruses to escape from the cells they infect probably is the key to control of virus diseases by drugs, says a University of California research team.

The chemical is an enzyme. It was discovered two years ago by this group. Now the researchers have reported new findings about the enzyme in the Journal of General Physiology.

If medical science can produce a drug which can be put into healthy cells to destroy this enzyme without harm to the tissues, it can control viruses, the group said.

The researchers are Dr. Doris J. Ralston, Dr. Miriam Lieberman, Dr. Beatrice S. Baer and Dr. A. P. Krueger. Dr. Krueger, emeritus professor of bacteriology, is an authority on biological warfare.

One of the new findings of the researchers is that when disease viruses enter a cell in the body they force the cell to produce an enzyme called virolysin. This enzyme destroys a sugar-like material which holds the cell wall together.

When an active disease virus enters a cell it takes over like a dictator, converting cell materials into more viruses and initiating the production of virolysin.

If virolysin could be destroyed by some chemical, the researchers said, the intact cell wall would keep the viruses prisoners and they could not escape to attack other cells.

County Workers To Get Ten Percent Wage Hike

Approximately 235 county employes will be granted a ten per cent pay increase, it was reported yesterday.

An order for the ten per cent hike in wages will be introduced for passage today at the meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

An informed source said that at least two of the three commissioners will vote "yes" to the order.

Earlier this year, representatives of the County Roads Department workers requested an increase in wages, and today's action will distribute the boost to all departments.

Affected will be 40 employes at Sylvan Retreat, 20 at the County Home, 80 at the County Infirmary; 75 in the roads department, and 20 in the county commissioners office.

The last wage raise for county workers was granted by the commissioners in 1955, a very small, flat increase for all departments.

An informed source pointed out that tied in with the merit, or civil service, system the county is putting into effect, which will have sick leave and vacations, the job situation with the county will be improved.

Appropriations for the 1957-58 fiscal year made in April included the anticipated ten per cent wage boost, it was pointed out.

80 Boys Sign Up For 4-H Camp

Arnold said the camp, which is now called the University of Maryland Western Shore 4-H Centre, features rifle marksmanship, safety, crafts, wildlife, swimming and recreational activities.

Mrs. Audrey Crable presided and reporting on the encampment last month said the auxiliary received a trophy, for blood bank donations and citations for cancer fund donations, poppy sales and publicity.

A donation was voted to the local mental health fund. Mrs. Nave and Mrs. Sadie Smith were elected delegates to the national convention in Miami Beach, August 25-30. The alternates are Mrs. Grace Bosenberg and Mrs. Mildred Fike. Mrs. Speis won the award for the evening.

The July 23 meeting has been cancelled and the next session will be August 13. A family picnic will be held August 11 at Smouse's Beach.

Courts Note Increase In Motor Cases

Motor vehicle cases handled by Cumberland's two trial magistrates increased 22 per cent during the first six months of 1957, as compared to the same period in 1956.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who compiles the report for both himself and Magistrate J. Milton Dick, also noted that fines increased 50 per cent during the period.

In the first six months of this year a total of 1,108 cases were tried by the two magistrates. The total fines for these cases netted $15,148.20. Besides the fines, the magistrates noted, a number of sentences to the Maryland House of Correction and Allegany County Jail were also issued.

During the same period in 1956 only 906 cases were tried, and the fines totaled only $10,339.95.

Magistrate Mason's report also reveals that 358 civil cases were handled this year, as compared to the 307 cases in 1956. The increase of 51 cases represents a 17 per cent hike, Mason noted.

Criminal cases handled in the local courts also showed an increase for the first six months over last year. This year 221 cases were tried, while in 1956 only 142 were heard. The 79-case increase represents a hike of 55 per cent.

Magistrate Mason's report also reveals that March 1957 was the heaviest with 243 motor vehicle cases, with fines totaling $3,483.20.

June was the second heaviest with 195 cases and fines totaling $2,901.50 for motor vehicle violations.

Allegheny Airlines Claims New Records

Allegheny Airlines set a new all time high monthly record in June with 7,141,429 passenger miles, Leslie O. Barnes, president of the company announced yesterday.

During June over 45,000 passengers were flown over the company's eight state system in the Middle Atlantic area. New records were set at virtually all of Allegheny's cities, President Barnes stated. Analysis of the record traffic, Barnes continued, indicate that Allegheny's new 40-passenger Martin "Executive" flights developed a major proportion of the increase. During the month new records were also set in cargo and air freight traffic.

In the first half of 1957 Allegheny flew 29,550,000 passenger miles for a 17.6 per cent increase over the same period last year and the company again qualified for the Annual Safety Award of the National Safety Council.

Air cargo traffic, including air express, air freight and air mail was up 47 per cent during the first five months of 1957 as compared with last year.

Court Awards $30,000 In Accident Suit

A U. S. District Court jury at Elkins has awarded damages totaling $30,000 to two Cumberland residents who were injured in an automobile accident in September 1956, on U. S. Route 220 about two miles south of Petersburg.

Plaintiffs in the case were Mrs. Dorothy E. Mowery who had asked $50,000; and Shelia Rae Mowery, her infant daughter, who had sued through her next friend, her father, Robert Mowery, for $10,000.

Defendant in the case was Robert W. Stump of Cherry Grove, Pendleton County, who was not present in court nor represented by counsel. The Mowerys were represented by attorneys Edward L. Ryan, this city, and R. E. Maxwell of Elkins.

Federal judge Herbert S. Boreman told the jury its only responsibility was to fix the amount of damages.

The jury awarded Mrs. Mowery $25,000 and the child $5,000.

Evidence presented in court showed Mrs. Mowery and the child were passengers in a car driven by Harry Arrington, Mrs. Mowery's brother. Stump's car collided headon with the Arrington car while the Stump vehicle was passing another auto. Evidence was also presented that Stump was driving on the wrong side of the road at the time of the mishap. The woman and child were hurled against the windshield and instrument panel by the impact. They were treated at Petersburg and brought to Memorial Hospital here where they were patients about two weeks.

In another court action, Judge Boreman continued until today the case of Paul C. Williams of Romney, after Williams pleaded guilty to three misdemeanor counts of violating the Fair Labor Standards Act. Ralph Bean, Moorefield, is attorney for Williams.

Commissioners May Rule On LaVale Zoning Board

In an unofficial opinion of the attorney general of Maryland's legal staff, the chairmanship of the LaVale Zoning Board could be decided by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The communication from Charles B. Reeves Jr., assistant attorney general, was received yesterday by John M. Robb, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Reeves, however, pointed out to Robb that the State Law Department is not by law legal advisor to boards of election supervisors.

"The ultimate decision must be made by you as counsel for the Board of Election Supervisors of Allegany County," Reeves stated.

Robb had asked an opinion of the attorney general after John J. Rowan and C. Arthur Lancaster received 329 votes to tie for the top spot in the LaVale Zoning referendum. Leslie J. Clark was third with 326.

The top vote getter is named the first chairman until the 1958 election and serves until 1962. The second place candidate serves until 1960 while third is in office until the 1958 election.

As Robb noted in his letter to Reeves, the law calling for the referendum is silent on breaking a tie.

Reeves pointed to a section in the law that said "In the event that the original board cannot or is not for any reason whatsoever elected at the June 18 referendum and election, the Board of County Commissioners shall appoint the entire board as aforesaid."

Reeves said that it appears to the legal law department that the two members have not been "elected" in strict accordance with the applicable provisions of the act.

Reeves said a review of the decisions of the Court of Appeals discloses no cases directly in point.

"Our advice," he declared, "which must of necessity be only on an informal basis and offered only as a guide to you in deciding this question, is to have the Board of County Commissioners for Allegany County resolve the tie vote and appoint one of the candidates with the highest votes to serve until the general election held in 1962, and also to be chairman. The other candidate can be appointed to serve until the general election held in 1960. This, in our opinion, would give effect to the expressed wishes of the electorate and also most nearly satisfy the spirit Chapter 228, particularly sub-section c of Section 337 (The zoning act)."

The Board of Election Supervisors has not acted on the unofficial ruling, but Rowan and Lancaster have stated that they are in favor of any method suggested to break the tie, and Lancaster said he is desirous of having Rowan as chairman.

W.Va. Seeks Bids On Road Projects

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11 (AP)—The State Road Commission will accept bids on two bridge projects and 33 road improvement contracts on July 23.

Both bridge projects will involve federal aid. One is work on an interchange bridge on Second Street in Clarksburg, part of the Clarksburg Expressway. The other, part of the relocation of U.S. 60 east of Charleston, is work on a bridge to be built over the Du-Pont plant's pipelines at Belle.

Road Commissioner Patrick C Graney said the other projects will total 118 miles. They and the bridges will total $1,600,000, he estimated.

The projects include:

Berkeley — asphalt surfacing four miles of W. Va. 51 between Inwood and Charles Town.

Fish Rodeo Set July 20

Representatives of the Cumberland Outdoor Club, Oldtown Sportman's Club and the City Recreation Department met Wednesday night to formulate plans for the annual fish rodeo sponsored by the organizations.

Saturday, July 20, was set as the date for the event, with the following Saturday scheduled in case of rain on the original day. The program will run from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m.

C. Gene Mason, recreation director, said the program will be open to children registered at the city's 15 playgrounds, and Boy and Girl Scout troops.

Plans are also being made, Mason stated, for patients of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children to participate in the rodeo.

The fishing hole has been closed to public fishing until after July 20, Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden announced yesterday.

His wife, Mrs. Dorothy M. Moss, who was found guilty on a single contributing charge, left last week to begin serving a six-month sentence in the Maryland Reformatory for Women.

Zhukov May Be Slated For Kremlin Promotion

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The logic of Soviet political affairs suggests that Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov may well be slated for an important promotion in the Soviet government hierarchy.

Possibly he will be named a first deputy premier. In the longer run—perhaps after a supreme Soviet meeting—there's a chance he may be considered for the post of premier.

Nikita Khrushchev last week fired four first deputy premiers—V. M. Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich, M. Z. Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin.

Only two first deputy premiers remain in office—Anastase Mikoyan and Joseph Kuzmin, chief of the state planning commission.

The first deputy premiers and the premier form a body known as the Presidium of the Council of Ministers—a group empowered to take action for the entire Soviet Cabinet.

In the last two years there have been five or six first deputy premiers. All except Kuzmin were full members of the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist Party.

Thus there are several vacancies in the ranks of first deputies. Zhukov as a full member of the party Presidium and head of the most important ministry in the country is an obvious candidate.

In further perspective the position of Premier Nikolai Bulganin seems shaky. There have been indications from Moscow that Bulganin in the recent Kremlin showdown may have been somewhat less than stalwart in his support of Khrushchev, who put him in that job.

If Khrushchev decides the time has come for Bulganin to step down, Marshal Zhukov would be a highly eligible candidate.

Since Zhukov is no figurehead or front man like Bulganin such a promotion would give him great authority.

One of the questions is whether Khrushchev would be willing to share his authority in the Soviet leadership with Zhukov. But there are good indications that in fact he already does.

Detailed and repeated reports of the Kremlin showdown stress that Zhukov saved Khrushchev from his enemies, Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich.

Zhukov reportedly voiced Soviet army support for Khrushchev and this fact carried immense weight in the ultimate outcome.

Thus it seems likely that Khrushchev owes Zhukov an immense political debt.

So far in every major political crisis of the post-Stalin period, the party leadership has called on Zhukov for army support and received it. In each case Zhukov subsequently received an important promotion.

US Navy recruiters here announced the enlistment of five area men Tuesday. They have been assigned for basic training at Bainbridge.

Two of the men are minority enlistees, signing to serve until their twenty-first birthdays. They are Jack Delmar Oates, RFD No. 1, Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manning C. Oates; and Garry Lorraine Hogbin, Petersburg, W. Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Hogbin Sr.

Three men who enlisted for four years each are Joseph Edward Hedrick, 92 3rd Street, Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie A. Hedrick; Robert Evans Lewis Jr., 237 Lincoln Street, Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lewis Sr.; and George O'Brien Hibbard, Needmore, W. Va.

Talk Not Cheap, Especially In U.S. Senate, As Printing Bill Increases

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Nothing is cheap these days, including talk. Especially in the U.S. Senate.

Take the expected filibuster over civil rights. If it comes off, it will cost between $324 and $567 an hour of session just to print the seemingly endless torrent of words.

Other costs won't run as high as you might suppose, largely because scarcely anyone around the Senate gets overtime pay. There are additional costs, of course, such as lighting or keeping the air-conditioning units in high gear to offset the senatorial hot words, but none of this can be figured precisely.

About the only cost that can be reckoned with any degree of certainty is the printing of the Congressional Record. There, whether the words are considered or hasty, wise or stupid, lively or dull, the costs run steadily on at $81 a page.

Unfortunately, there is no accurate gauge for telling how long it takes a legislator to talk up a page of the Record. But a couple of illustrations should give a clue.

Tuesday the Senate was in session 6 hours and 15 minutes and used 43 pages of the Record, not including the extra matter in the appendix. This comes to approximately $567 an hour of session.

Possibly a more accurate comparison would be to turn to another filibuster and see how many pages were used then.

On April 24, 1953, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) got up to make a speech opposing a bill to give submerged oil lands to the states.

Morse took the floor at 11:40 a.m. and he didn't let go of it until 10:06 a.m. the next day. This 22-hour and 26-minute performance set the record for a body renowned for its talkativeness. Morse used 89 pages of the Record, filibustering along at a rate of four pages, or $324, an hour.

The real costs come in the wear and tear on the faithful Senate helpers, forced to follow wherever the Senate leads them—the clerks, the legislative assistants, the official reporters, the parliamentarians.

Take the work of the parliamentarian, a critical job at a time when each side is jockeying for every advantage the rules might give them.

Charles L. Watkins, the parliamentarian, and his assistant, Floyd M. Riddick, have agreed to work 12 hours on and 12 hours off if the Senate goes into round-the-clock sessions.

For Riddick, this will be an improvement. Watkins was ill during a 1954 filibuster over an attempt to amend the Atomic Energy Act.

"We were in session for 86 continuous hours," Riddick said today, "and I was on duty the whole time. I managed to get in two hours of sleep, right here in the office."

The filibusters are hard on senators, too, yet they seem to bear up surprisingly well.

A few years ago during an all-night session it was impossible to raise a quorum, and the sergeant at arms was ordered to arrest and fetch in the absent statesmen.

One senator had been in poor health, but had agreed to do some night work anyway. He hardly had got home and to bed before the sergeant at arms was around to drag him back again. His wife was in tears, sure the extra work would do him in. But the sergeant at arms and the senator saw their duty, and they did it.

It's a pleasure to report that today the senator is healthy and ready for another filibuster.

The moral seems to be that you can talk a bill to death, but not a senator.

Kishi Installs New Japanese Cabinet

TOKYO, July 11 (AP) — Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi removed his old cabinet yesterday and installed a new one that is expected to step up Japan's drive for markets.

In a departure from tradition, the conservative government leader named a businessman foreign minister. The post went to a dapper sugar and chemical magnate, Aiichiro Fujiyama.

Fujiyama pledged his first task will be to "promote economic cooperation with the countries of Southeast Asia."

President of the Japan Chamber of Commerce & Industry and a Rotary Club member, he backs Kishi's plan to develop non-Communist Asia with American funds, Japanese tools and technicians.

Aside from further emphasis on trade, the shakeup was not expected to mean many changes in Japanese policies.

The annual erosion loss in the United States has been estimated at 400 million dollars.

The blinking of your eyelids is the quickest automatic action in your body.

Hungary Reds Denounce Nagy But Keep Liberal Farm Policies

By CARL HARTMAN

BUDAPEST, July 11 (AP)—Today's Hungarian regime denounces former Premier Imre Nagy as a traitor, but it has kept his liberalized policy toward the farmers.

Nagy in his two weeks of power abolished the hated system of forced crop deliveries, and Premier Janos Kadar has not restored its most objectionable features.

What the peasants used to dislike most was the government's way of setting a delivery quota in the spring on the basis of past crop yields and then holding them to it, no matter what their luck with the weather and other risks. This often resulted in farmers having to buy grain to hand over to the government. The quota system is now out.

Almost as important, prices to farmers have been raised an average of 35 per cent—more in the case of wheat, Hungary's basic crop. This year the peasant will get the equivalent of $2.30 to $2.80 per bushel for his wheat, figured at the official exchange rate. In terms of the real value of the Hungarian forint on world markets, the true price would be only about one-quarter of that but on the Hungarian market he will be quite well off.

Peasants are still forbidden to trade for resale except to authorized government buyers. This measure is designed to curb speculation. They may, however, sell to other farmers for their own use.

Hungary is no longer one of Europe's prime producers of bread grains. Low prices and forced deliveries combined to drive farmers to other crops, or to leave surplus land fallow. Since 1953 Hungary has had to import wheat and this year is expected to need 400,000 to 500,000 tons again.

Most of it will probably come from Soviet Russia.

Churches Behind Iron Curtain Carrying On Persistent, Often Subtle Struggle

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Amid the shifting of powers in the Communist orbit, churches today are carrying on a persistent and often subtle struggle for the preservation of the faith.

In general, the picture was changed greatly from the time when churches were oppressed outright, and the pattern both for the churches and the government has taken on more artful — but perhaps no less fateful—forms.

The process is intimately known to the Rev. Dr. Carl E. Lund-Quist, an international church diplomat. The Kansas-born churchman is one of the most closely informed Westerners on the status of the churches behind the Iron Curtain.

"The tactic originally was to destroy the church openly and by direct suppression," he said. "That tactic has changed . . . to an attempt mainly to train children and youth to become atheists and materialists and thus let the church die without roots."

To an increasing extent, this has given rise to new methods of maneuver and finesse on both sides.

As executive secretary of the Lutheran World Federation, with headquarters in Geneva, Dr. Lund-Quist has frequent contacts with East European church leaders and government officials.

Pointing up the refined nature of the struggle today, he noted that the Communist government officials now forthrightly assure "complete religious freedom."

"It is something you come to expect from every statesman," he remarked in an interview. "It sometimes makes you a little cynical."

In the United States to prepare for a Lutheran world assembly in Minneapolis next month, he said that churches in Eastern Europe today are in some respects more vigorous than elsewhere on the Continent.

"Attendance is amazingly high" he said. "The churches are filled. It is a phenomenon so different than in parts of Western Europe."

That is part of the subtle conflict, but it also comes out in many other ways. For instance, churches can hold youth meetings but Communist meetings usually are called simultaneously, with devious pressures on youth who don't show up.

Parents of such children may run into difficulties on the job, or come under various criticism.

A high school girl senior, a good student, was asked repeatedly by school directors to quit wearing her Christian cross. She refused. She was flunked on final examinations.

What is the church doing to keep up its educational work?

"The new emphasis," Dr. Lund-Quist said, "is on teaching the child in the home, on making it the parents' responsibility. This home responsibility of Christians is a new development in the Communist area.

"Parents are more and more teaching the Bible, the catechisms and Bible history in the homes. This is a work that has been neglected in modern society for several generations."

One exception to the general easing of tension, he said, is in East Germany, where the church's role has become more difficult in recent months, despite its strong support among the population.

For both Protestants and Roman Catholics, contacts between Western and Iron Curtain churches are on the upturn. Lutherans recently turned over the first $100,000 in a long-range program of aid to Hungarian churches. The National Catholic Welfare Conference also has sent aid to Catholic churches in Hungary.

As for the future of churches in the Communist area, Dr. Lund-Quist said:

"Communism has now recognized that it is impossible to stamp out religious faith in one generation. Their hope now is that after one or two generations, under their system of education and control of schools, a generation will develop with no religious faith whatsoever.

"I think that on this question the survival of the churches under communism hinges. Will the church be able to perpetuate itself through teaching religion to future generations in other ways than the traditional forms — the church schools and Sunday schools?

"The Christian faith will remain alive there, however, even if the organized institution is not able to do so. Early church history, even under the frightening terror of the Roman Empire, shows that Christian faith in some form remains alive under any circumstances."

Something Amiss

MONTREAL, July 11 (AP)—Paul Dubuc, 52, who hadn't driven since 1928, borrowed his boss' car for some downtown errands. Later he testified in Municipal Court, "There were cars coming at me from all directions so I put the car in low gear to make sure I went slow." Suspecting something amiss, Constable Andre Desrosiers investigated and took Dubuc to court. Verdict: $50 fine for no driver's license.

Attacks 'Mystery Theory'—

Anti-Baldness Crusader Returns to Demonstrate Home Treatment Methods

CINCINNATI, Ohio—"This Saturday, July 13, our Bishop expert will return again to Cumberland, Md. He will be at the service of hair-worried men and women from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Ft. Cumberland Hotel."

The speaker, who has spent 21 years as an anti-baldness crusader, consulted a record book before going on.

"This will be the fifteenth time our organization has sent an expert to Cumberland.

"And tomorrow, as in the past, our Mr. J. J. Stalteri will be in the city for two purposes: First, he will personally check the progress of clients now taking Bishop home treatment; second, he will examine and advise people who are not taking treatment.

G. S. BISHOP

Examine You Free

"There is no charge, no obligation for either service.

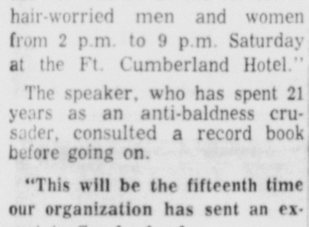

"We've been doing this for five years in dozens of cities. Every person who took Bishop treatment has done so on a satisfaction-or-money-back guarantee. We do come back and we do make good."

Hair expert G. S. Bishop, an international authority in his field, checked his records again.

"This last year, only 5.3% of the hundreds who took Bishop treatment asked for refunds.

"I say this proves beyond reasonable doubt that Bishop home treatment does all we say it will do and more too."

Bishop is the director of Bishop Hair Experts. His organization maintains seven busy scalp treatment centers in the U.S. and Canada. Bishop experts also do extension work in most cities of any size in the Eastern half of North America.

Leroy Geiger before and after Bishop treatment. Unretouched photographs.

This international expert will have no part of what he calls the "complete mystery theory" of baldness. This is the theory that nobody has any idea what causes a man to lose his hair, and that nothing can be done to stop such loss.

In fact, Bishop blames much of men's hair troubles on common acceptance of the "complete mystery theory."

Common-Sense View

He takes the common-sense view that the problem of baldness is not hair loss but lack of hair growth. He reasons in this direct cause-and-effect sequence:

1. As long as your scalp is in healthy condition, it will regrow at least as much hair as it naturally sheds.

2. If your scalp is not replacing the hair it sheds, your scalp is not healthy.

3. If your scalp is not healthy, it's because of neglect or improper care—not because of heredity or "fate."

4. Once your scalp is restored to health, it will start regrowing at least as much hair as you lose—and in many cases re-grow hair full of length and strength where only "fuzz" has been growing.

5. With Bishop advice and home treatment, you can put your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition. What's more, Bishop methods of hygiene will enable you to keep it growing.

To those who doubt that men are directly responsible for most of their own hair troubles, Bishop makes this challenge: Examine ten male scalps at random—anywhere, any time—and see how many of them even look clean!

Once you do it, you'll be surprised that even more men are not slick bald.

"My experience," Bishop says, "is that not one male scalp in ten even appears healthy to the naked eye . . . and not one in a hundred will pass examination by an experienced Bishop expert with a magnifying glass."

Personal Supervision

He emphasizes that no one method of scalp hygiene is proper for all men. There is no such thing as a "cure-all" for hair troubles.

"For this reason, we never advise Bishop home treatment without personal examination by a qualified Bishop expert.

"For this reason, we have you mail regular progress reports to our Cincinnati headquarters—so we can change treatment if your scalp does not respond properly.

"For this reason, we send a Bishop expert back to the city at regular intervals to personally check your scalp and advise you."

Written Guarantee

Bishop home treatment has proved so beneficial for hundreds of men and women, the firm now gives every client a written guarantee.

"You must be satisfied with results in 30 days," Bishop says, "or your money will be refunded."

Call the Ft. Cumberland Hotel tomorrow, Saturday, July 13 — and ask for Mr. J. J. Stalteri's suite number. Then see him any time between 2 p.m. and 9 p.m. for your free examination.

You don't need an appointment. There's no charge or obligation. Separate examination rooms—no embarrassment.

Enjoy peace of mind. Turn over your hair worries to the Bishop expert—TOMORROW.

On The Line
by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 11 — (INS)— Dr. Willy Ley, the rocket authority who turned his back on Hitler's Germany and gave America the fruit of his genius in that department, would not be surprised if the Russians beat us to the punch in the matter of an earth satellite.

"Last December at a Geophysical Year meeting the Russians promised complete cooperation with our satellite program, which was then well under way," Ley recalled. "They had no satellite plans themselves, they assured us.

"Three weeks ago they abruptly announced they would soon have a satellite to launch. Two weeks ago they acknowledged it was to be uninstrumented.

"Our plans, of course, are for an instrumented satellite, one that will tell us something about the space through which it travels — such as th: cosmic ray count, heat, cold, cosmic dust, what happens when eventually it reenters our heavy atmosphere and ignites from friction.

"The Russians have no such instrumented satellite, but they can probably throw a bright ball into space for the prestige involved and propagandize their people about the wonders of Soviet science. We could do the same about now, but probably will insist on doing it properly."

The good doctor filled us in a bit on the metal ball we'll eventually lob off the earth.

"It will weigh 21½ pounds and will be in the tip of the third stage of the three stage rocket, which in turn will weigh many tons before the firing. The final stage, containing the ball, will be traveling at about 18,000 miles an hour when it burns the last of its fuel. A spring will automatically uncoil itself and push out the ball. The last bit of rocket, not being a sphere, will fall back into our atmosphere and disappear much sooner than the aerodynamically superior ball.

"The ball will be released 45 minutes after takeoff. It will then commence circling the earth for an undetermined period, maybe weeks, maybe a year. It will take 90 minutes to complete each circle. Like a car skidding on an icy turn, its turns will not be regular. At some stages of its trips around us it will be 1,600 miles from the earth, at other times only 200.

"As it goes through space 200 miles off the earth it will be exposed to a bit of our atmosphere, and this is what eventually will wear it down and cause it to fall back into the heavy atmosphere."

We said, "Around the world in 90 minutes sure makes a bum out of Mike Todd." But the author of "Rockets, Missiles and Space Travel," (Viking), the most successful book ever written on the fascinating topic, said that this is just the beginning — great as it is.

"We'll have tracking cameras set up in India, Iran, Australia, Japan, Hawaii, Spain, Florida and California," he said. "When all goes well, we'll be ready to send up a larger satellite, one that navigators on ships and planes can use for guidance. Then the satellite with the TV cameras, to take pictures of our weather, help our map-makers, and bring us intercontinental TV. Then the man-carrying satellite, of course."

Dr. Ley speaks of hitting the moon as casually as the average man speaks of hitting his wife, when his wife isn't around.

"We could do it within a year with the proper official backing," he said. "Scientists with designs on the moon must, however, prove what Washington calls 'justification.' It involves reasons for wanting to hit the moon, what might happen after it's hit, and so forth. Personally, I'd hit it with a rocket with a sodium metal tip which would spread a cloud which would reflect light. You don't need too big a marker to prove you made it. An object the size of a 10-story building could be seen on the moon, if the sun is right.

"But it would be better still to miss the moon, not hit it. If we miss with our rocket it will become a satellite of the moon. But it will be tough to miss. The moon's gravity extends out 23,000 miles — as you know."

Of course.

Record Blast To Level Cliff

LITTLE VALLEY, Utah, July 11 (AP)—An explosion described by an engineer as the biggest non-atomic blast ever touched off in the United States will disintegrate a cliff near Little Valley July 21.

Howard Willard, project engineer for the Southern Pacific Railroad, said today crews of the Morrison - Knudsen Construction Co. will set off 1,700,000 pounds of explosives near the Little Valley harbor of Great Salt Lake.

Willard said that as far as he knows this will be the biggest non-atomic blast in the United States. He said the previous record was 1,362,000 pounds set off Feb. 5, 1949, at Bristol, Tenn.

The Little Valley blast is the fourth in a series to obtain material for a rock fill dike 13 miles long across a northern arm of the lake. The dike will replace part of the historic Lucin cutoff railroad trestle, which is supported by wooden pilings.

The explosives are packed into two "coyote holes" in the 200-hole-high cliff, and into tunnels 1,300 feet long which connect the holes.

It is expected the explosion will yield three million tons of material.

Boys Club To Swim

Members of the Police Boys Club will have use of the facilities at the Constitution Park swimming pool Saturday from 10 a. m. to noon.

The only time the moon can be eclipsed is when it is a full moon, or new moon, and we can never see the true new moon.

Community Council Meeting Today

The first calendar is expected to be published early next month, pending approval by the council membership.

Labor Secretary Defends Welfare Fund Bill

BOSTON, July 11 (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said tonight pending legislation concerning union welfare funds seeks to place chief responsibility for correction of any wrongdoing with union members, not the federal government.

Mitchell, in a prepared speech before the Central Labor Union of Boston, declared, "Our bill is intended to open the windows and let the light of public knowledge shine through."

"This administration," he said, "does not intend to punish all of labor for the actions of a few weak or corrupt officials within labor's house.

"At the same time, it does not intend to ignore these happenings or to hide the culprits in a closet away from the eyes of the public."

Mitchell told the labor officials the proposal before Congress "is not an attempt to place total reliance on the corrective powers of enforcement. The government in no way guarantees the financial stability or soundness of any fund.

"If any beneficiary thinks his fund is financially unstable, it is up to him and his fellow beneficiaries to correct it.

"If, through the disclosure provided for in this bill, any administrative incompetence or sleight of hand is discovered, the primary responsibility for correction is with the beneficiaries."

The labor secretary said the proposed legislation would require complete reports to the Labor Department from unions on the financial operations of all welfare and pension plans. In addition, the bill calls for disclosure of these reports to the public.

Mitchell emphasized that the federal government, through the legislation, "will not infringe upon the authority or powers of the various states." He said the legislation is intended "to encourage and assist state action in the areas of state responsibility."

"There are state laws already on the books to deal with criminal theft of these funds," he said. "Our bill would help to expose any tampering, and would make thefts from these funds a federal crime."

Mitchell said he also was asking Congress to permit him to make public financial reports of all unions "to bring to public view any malpractices and shady activities in the handling of union dues."

Typhoon Warning

TOKYO, July 11 (AP)—The Weather Bureau warns that 10 to 15 typhoons will approach Japan next month and two may hit into the country then or in September. Normally about eight typhoons approach Japan in a season.

Traveled Dog Dies

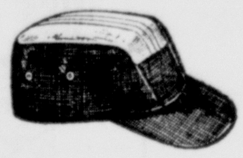

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Chota Peg, a 14½-year-old Cocker Spaniel who made it a career crossing the Atlantic as the pet of a ship captain, is dead. During his lifetime, the dog traveled an estimated two million nautical miles since 1943. His master was Cmdr. John W. Anderson, captain of the liner United States.

It is lightweight, is about the size of a soft ball, and may be used in the house as it will not break windows or raise bumps on the heads of small fry who are hit by it. It can be used for all the games for which an ordinary ball is used.

Allen-Sullivan War Continues

At the risk of having my name misspelled again on the editorial pages of "The Daily News" (one of the local papers here in New York), I'd like to venture the timorous suggestion that Steve Allen is, week after week, turning out a fine show with very fresh and original humor. The other night, for instance, there was a skit with Peter Lawford about the private conversation of a couple of lifeguards and a satire on the Mike Wallace Show which was very, very funny.

There's a kind of humor on the Allen show—for instance, Allen doing commercials built around famous art masterpieces like the Mona Lisa ("Girls, are you afraid to show your teeth when you smile?")—which you just don't find anywhere else, especially since the demise of Sid Caesar. I recall with pleasure a duologue with Wally Cox, the two of them playing a couple of guys watching an excavation. Well, it was a funny, fresh imaginative idea. It had bite and perception about it.

Meanwhile, the Allen-Ed Sullivan feud rolls on and this, I'm afraid hasn't much bite or freshness about it or, on Mr. Sullivan's side, much taste. The comments by Sullivan about Mr. Allen have been universally ill-tempered, unsportsmanlike, and more than a little ridiculous. It does seem odd that a newspaperman should have so little sense of public relations.

The other night after doing his own show Steve Allen appeared on "The Mike Wallace Show" where he was promptly queried about the Sullivan feud. His answers were the very model of propriety, perhaps a little too much so. I found myself wishing he'd take a poke at Mr. Sullivan, who has showed no hesitation at taking pokes at him.

"Ed is a newspaperman predominantly," said Allen at one point. Well, now, that is a matter of opinion. I notice that most entertainers consider Sullivan fundamentally a newspaperman while most newspapermen consider him fundamentally in show business. Each side is accusing the other of being guilty of Ed Sullivan. I suggest we draw straws. We'll take the blame one week but, by God, you actors have got to assume responsibility for Sullivan the following week.

Having watched him give a very assured and smooth performance on his own show an hour earlier, it was surprising how nervous and ill at ease Allen was on the Wallace show. He was very straightforward and honest and open in his replies but he did look as if he wished he were somewhere else. This is the age of the candid unrehearsed interview and it's odd how badly the actors do at it.

Dictators—Khrushchev, for example—seem more at ease in front of the cameras than actors who, after all, earn their living doing just that. I think the most nervous man I ever saw in front of the TV cameras was Fred Astaire on "Person to Person." Astaire, who must have been in show business for pretty close to forty years, could hardly get through a sentence. The Mrs. Glotzes of Brooklyn who get on the audience participation shows are infinitely more at home in front of the cameras than show business veterans.

In radio, there were innumerable examples of mike fright. There's hardly a performer on radio who hasn't a dozen stories of mike fright that had happened on his own show. But you almost never hear a comparable story about camera fright. In fact, the only people who seem to get frightened of the TV cameras are movie stars, some of whom have almost had hysterics.

Mr. Allen also found time to say a few kind words about his new sponsor, Johnson's Wax, and I must say I go along with him there. Johnson's Wax is one of those rare sponsors which seems to know just what sort of a show it wants to be associated with. Years ago it tied up with "Fibber McGee and Molly" on radio and clung to them for years. On television, it has been associated with "Robert Montgomery Presents," now off the air, and now with Allen. All the things it has been connected with have had quality which reflects on the product. And the commercials are bright and fresh and, of all things, instructive. You can't ask for more than that.

Christman Gets Three Years For Escape

James A. Christman, 31, who made a short-lived escape on July 1 from the county jail, was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Penitentiary on the charge at a hearing Wednesday in Allegany County Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The sentence, Judge Harris specified was to be served consecutively with a five-year term which had been imposed for conviction of statutory rape of a 13-year-old girl last November. Christman was to have been taken to the penitentiary on the day he made his break for freedom.

Prior to sentencing, Judge Harris informed Christman that he believed the prisoner had obtained a saw from someone in order to make his jail break. He asked Christman "How did you get it and who brought it in?"

Christman replied that the bars on a window through which he and three others made their escape had already been sawed through. On further questioning, he informed the jurist that the only person who had brought a saw into the jail quarters was a plumber who was there for repair work.

Judge Harris said "I do not believe you," and after pointing out Christman's long criminal record and his being wanted now by Pennsylvania authorities, imposed the additional three years.

Christman was represented by Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and Earl E. Manges.

The only one of the four escapees who got far away from the jail, Christman was captured at the home of Dewey Welch on Bottle Neck Road, just off Bedford Road, where he had gone after picking up his wife at her home on Golden Lane, just off Willowbrook Road.

The arresting officers were City Detectives Joseph Stitcher and George Furstenberg and State Troopers Robert Wolford and D. A. Tucker. Christman offered no resistance at the time.

The other escapees were Walter Perry, 18; his brother, Richard Perry, 17, and Melvin Carter, 18, all of the Frostburg area. The younger Perry was recaptured inside the walls of the jail, while the other two were picked up while hiding in the grass outside the walls when they apparently returned in an attempt to aid the younger Perry make good his escape.

They also face hearings on charges of prison break, for which the maximum sentence is not to exceed ten years.

Since 1934, the naval and merchant ships of all nations have used the International Code of Signals, which consists of 40 flags whose colored markings are visible up to five miles in daylight.

Trips Back Home Help Congressman

From the man who watches over the health of U. S. Congressmen comes the advice that one of the best methods of maintaining good physical health his patients can adopt is to make occasional trips back home for indulgence in good old fashioned county fair speech making and cake eating.

"It's an interesting thing that the men who leave Washington to conduct a campaign come back in better physical shape. They achieve a better metabolic balance than in the sedentary life in Washington," says Dr. George Calver, attending Capitol physician.

As a heart specialist and newly elected president of the American College of Cardiology, Dr. Calver's primary concern is the prevention of cardiac troubles among the lawmakers. After performing his duties as "attending physician" to Congress for 29 years, Dr. Calver is familiar with the pitfalls which await the unsuspecting Congressman in Washington.

Among the factors adversely affecting the lawmaker's heart, Dr. Calver lists Washington hostesses, filibusters and constituents. He blames the hostesses for continually trying to outdo one another in filling Congressmen's stomachs with fattening foods, the filibuster for its strain on the heart, and the constituents for feeding their government representatives heavy dinners night after night.

Because of his insistence upon dietary controls among his patients to reduce heart strain, Dr. Calver has earned the title of "the streamliner." Explaining his concern over weight control, the physician says it is merely a matter of physics. "I teach them all my equation—food-fuel value must equal energy-work output," he says.

Dr. Calver's recommendation for more participation by Congressmen in home district affairs is not only conducive to physical health, but political health as well.

Russian Inner Turmoil Reduces Danger Of War For Many Years

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Some weeks before he left Moscow, Ambassador Chip Bohlen reported deep-rooted churning inside Russia. He connected this with industry and domestic economy, predicted that because of this inner turmoil there was no danger of war with Russia for many years to come.

In another report Bohlen expressed the conviction that the Russian people had become so sold on peace that it would take intensive propaganda for their leaders in the Kremlin to convert them to war. He also expressed the view that the leaders in the Kremlin were convinced modern war would be so suicidal to both sides that no one could win; therefore Russia's future lay in a peaceful though vigorous struggle to control men's minds.

These reports had already been used by Harold Stassen as a guidepost for his arms talks, were one reason Stassen has believed the Russians are ready for a genuine arms agreement.

The reports are now being reviewed further in the light of the Kremlin crisis. Net conclusions: That deep trouble is stirring inside Russia, that the Russian people as well as the satelites must be given the alternative of more freedom or else strict Stalinist suppression; that the more-freedom school has won out.

Helping Secretary

Congressman John J. Rhodes (R., Ariz) has run afoul of an unwritten rule of the House of Representatives whereby Congressmen refrain from chiticizing the pork barrel projects of fellow members, especially when they are from different states.

Rhodes took the unusual step of writing a circular letter to members of the House Interior Committee, asking them to vote against a $32,220,000 irrigation project in the district of Rep. O. C. Fisher (D., Tex.).

The Arizzona lawmaker called Fisher's bill a "thinly disguised municiual water project" for the city of San Angelo, and claimed it was not a proper assignment for the Bureau of Reclamation.

Naturally this did not please Congressman Fisher. When word of Rhodes' letter reached him, he did some quiet checking, then sent out a letter of his own.

"An examination reveals," wrote the Congressman from Texas, "that Mr. Rhodes' allegations are largely a rehash of testimony given by the sole witness who has ever expressed any opposition to our project—a Mr. Calvin McGowan, whose brother is Mr. Rhodes' secretary.

"The McGowan opposition was based upon the fact that some of the land which will be taken for the lakesite is owned by the McGowan family."

People-To-People Friendship

U.S. diplomats have been stung so often, either by McCarthy investigations or by the changeable Kremlin, that they are extremely hesitant about expressing public optimism about our future relations with Russia.

However, if, as seems almost certain, the current Kremlin ferment stems from a stirring of the Russian people, then this presents a heavensent opportunity to the United States.

The opportunity is to win closer friendship with the Russian people.

As this writer has frequently emphasized, and as President Eisenhower pointed out at the Geneva summit conference, the best guarantee against war is friendship among people.

For years the United States has not worried about war with England, France, or Canada for the simple reason that our peoples have too much common sense, plus friendship, to make war. They understand each other. But the hurdle of different political systems, different language, plus the Iron Curtain, has made friendship with the Russian people difficult.

Likewise the Soviet system of dictatorshi was built for speedy decisions for war or peace without consulting the people. With no free press, no free churches, no free radio, there were no brakes on the Kremlin's ability to declare war anytime it wished.

Today, however, there is a stirring inside Russia — and a golden opportunity for an intensive campaign for people-to-people friendship.

American Iron Curtain

When Nikita Khrushchev proposed on CBS that we lower the American Iron Curtain, the only man who took him up vigorously was Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who got slightly slapped for his pains by John Foster Dulles.

Since then six steel experts and six health experts from the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. will visit each other's country. That, however, is not people-to-people friendship. A total of twenty-four people visiting two countries of 168,000,000 and 200,000,000 respectively is not going to win many friends. It's going to be like dropping a pebble into the ocean. It won't cause a ripple.

The United States, in my opinion, has a political-economic-cultural system that we should show off to the world. Yet the State Department seems afraid to let people come over here to see it.

Perhaps Senator Johnson should conduct an investigation of the reasons why the State Department is sabotaging the officially announced policy of the United States.

Many Attorneys Unhappy Over Supreme Court

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—From one end of the country to the other, many members of the bar are unhappy over the destruction of long-standing precedents and the wreckage of historic principles by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent decisions.

When the American Bar Association meets in New York City next week, it will have before it some important resolutions which question the present system of appointing Supreme Court justices.

For the existing system, whereby a President appoints justices to satisfy certain political influences, not only is resulting in the selection of men without judicial experience but it has brought about a loss of confidence in the high court as a judicial institution.

It is an open secret that, in the last several decades, appointments of Supreme Court justices under both Republican and Democratic administrations have been largely political. Instead of finding the most capable men of judicial experience, the tendency is to pick those who fit certain political requirements. Some of these "requirements" are sectional, some of them are religious and some of them are palpably ideological — an attempt to find conservative or liberal justices to fit preconceived viewpoints.

Houston Plan

One suggested reform, sponsored by the Bar Association of Houston, Texas, was submitted in 1955 to the governors, the attorneys general and the courts of last resort of the 48 states, and a favorable response was noted. It proposes a constitutional amendment that would take the appointing power away from the President altogether and place it in the hands of a "representation" from each of the 48 states. Each state would have one vote, divided equally between the members of the highest court in each state.

The only prospective appointees to be considered, according to the Houston plan, would be members of the U. S. Circuit Courts of Appeals and judges in the highest state courts. Only those with five years of consecutive service on either the Circuit Court of Appeals or the highest state court would be eligible.

The American Bar Association Journal in a recent issue revealed that "a far-reaching proposal" is being considered by the association's committee on the federal judiciary. It urges that all federal judicial appointments be "completely removed from the area of political patronage."

The Journal says the resolution is "more comprehensive in scope than any previous association policy declaration as to federal judicial selection."

Favors Judges

The resolution declares that "appointments should be made from among judges and lawyers possessing the highest qualifications; suggestions for nominations should not originate in the office of the attorney general, but rather the proposed independent commission would function as an agency of the President to 'receive from outside sources and from all segments of the organized bar associations of names of persons deemed highly qualified'." It also sets forth that nominations should not be made of persons over 60 years of age "except in cases of promotions within the judiciary" and that a "proper balance should be maintained between appointees without prior judicial experience, those with prior state court experience, and those promoted within the federal judiciary."

It is further recommended that "not more than 60 per cent of the members of any federal court should come from the political party of the appointing President."

All this adds up to a serious attack against the present system which has in it many scandalous aspects. If the background of some of the appointments were generally known, there would be widespread public indignation. The Senate can do relatively little investigating or evaluating after an appointment is submitted. Also, the making of "recess appointments" to the Supreme Court when the Senate is not in session is one of the bad practices of the present system because a nominee takes the oath and sits on cases before he is confirmed by the Senate. The Houston plan would cure this by a constitutional prohibition against recess appointments to vacancies in the Supreme Court.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Unexpended Balances

When it comes to spending other people's money, everybody is generous. Congress is usually particularly generous because the citizens want so much, seldom realizing that it is their own money that is being spent. They, the citizens, all complain about high taxes but they would like their special little items added to the budget, failing to recognize that huge totals grow from the accumulation of little items.

So we come again this year, as we have been forced to every year at about this time, to ask questions about unexpended surpluses. This is an amount of money previously appropriated but which was not used, and which many departments have learned how to manipulate so that the amounts remain on hand. Nevertheless, the citizen is taxed as though the departments were operating at a deficit. Every unexpended balance should be accounted for and should go back into the Treasury and the citizen should be freed from the need for providing that amount of money.

It is estimated that at the present time more than $6,000,000,000 of unexpended surpluses is available. If this amount were deducted from the Eisenhower Budget, that ungainly document could be brought down to about $66,000,000,000 which is high enough. The economy bloc in the Congress says that it can save between $1 and $2 billion without at all jeopardizing moral obligation and Defense necessities. So, let's say $1,000,000,000. That would bring the budget down to $65,000,000,000.

The Hoover Commission has shown savings of between $4 and $6 billion. These savings can be effective, they claim, by introducing administrative improvements and efficiencies. Well, let us say $4,000,000,000. So that would bring the budget down to $61,000,000,000.

Even that is high and contains a lot of extravagances, such as I heard about the other day, when a man wrote me that when it comes to mechanical soap dispensers in rest rooms, the government buys the fanciest and most expensive kind, although most grades are the same, their function being to pour soap powder into somebody's hands who wants to wash them. Why he needs to wash them out of a fancy dispenser, I do not know, except that whoever buys the stuff wants to give the citizen the best, as long as the citizen pays for it.

Money is a very precious commodity to possess. It buys food, pays the rent and provides baby with shoes. It also pays for automobiles and television machines but not for the stuff that appears on television because that comes for free, being on the whole generally not worth much more. However, recently I have seen some fairly ancient movies on television, which are very good and which I would pay to see, but not for the commercials which are an abomination.

So to get back to the subject of money, it is preferable to be able to keep whatever money one earns and I, personally, regard the current high taxes as larceny and will never vote for any Representative or Senator who does not favor cutting the budget as a matter of general principles and act thereupon. Personally I do not care whether the cuts are scientific or ad lib, so long as taxes are reduced and some additional money at the end of each year remains in my pocket for me to spend or to save, depending upon my personal inclination. It is about time for the exorbitant taxes which the American people pay, to be reduced.

I am willing to wager that most citizens feel the same way, except those who receive checks from the government for no good reason and who calculate at the end of the year that they are getting a free ride at the expense of the rest of us. Also the lawyers and accountants who make a living fixing up other people's tax returns would have to go back to a slower pace of life if it were ever possible for the citizen to write out his own income tax statement without fear of going to jail for charging an item too many to an expense account or for overpaying which looks fishy and starts a long train of investigations that are costly in time, effort, and expenditures of money.

Ergo, cut the budget and solve these problems which ought not to interfere with the citizens.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We weren't calibrating on any particular bureau when we recalled the Martcn Koszta ultimatum of 1853. But this Hungarian refugee was protected to the tartar on his teeth.

No American was ever banditized, ransacked or barbecued in the old days when America was growing like an elephant's child.

England was another nation that guarded its nationals like the tradesmen's entrance to Buckingham Palace. It was England's pompous brag that no cannibal had ever completely scoffed a British subject, spats and all.

When the head-shrinking Jivaros of the Orinoco jungle-whacked seven scientists in 1889 a British fleet was dispatched to bring back the hats.

We remember Teddy Roosevelt's order around the bend of the century, "Pecardis alive or Rasuili dead." Pecardis came pigeoning home on a two-seater camel with Rasuili in the rumble.

Today an Englishman in Africa or Asia is as vulnerable as a wart on a bowler's thumb. Nobody seems scared of an expeditionary force of portfolios.

Trouble is all predatory capers are chucked into the U.N. argutorium on the East River. They run thirty-eight languages through the chopper and hamburger the rebuttals.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Eddie Cantor's autobiography titled "Take My Life," is one of the most interesting books ever written about the show business. Don't miss it. When I first met Eddie he was campaigning for a summer camp for the underprivileged kids of the East Side of Manhattan. That was long ago. Down through the years I have since met Eddie many times. However, I have never met him when he wasn't campaigning for some worthy cause, trying to aid some unfortunate individual or doing what he could to help a talented newcomer get a start in the entertainment world. The thought of Eddie Cantor always brings to mind the classic observation of the Baroness von Suttner, "After the verb, 'to love,' 'to help' is the most beautiful verb in the world."

HORSES AND WOMEN

Why is it so many successful intelligent men avoid marrying intellectual women? That is a question often asked, especially by intellectual women. Perhaps it is because a man whose business it is to think all day vants to give his mind a rest when he goes home at night. So he enjoys a wife who is not too provocative from a mental standpoint. Anyway, Talleyrand observed, "Only a man who has loved a woman of genius can appreciate what happiness there is in loving a fool." And Lord Byron wrote:

Oh! ye lords of ladies intellectual Inform us truly, have they not hen-pecked You all?

ASIDES

The population of China is now 600,000,000 and continues to increase at an amazing rate. Statisticians figure that there are 30 Chinese born every minute . . . Married men live longer than single men and have a better chance of achieving financial success. So it is constantly claimed. You can't prove it by Senator Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island who is 90 years old, a bachelor and the wealthiest man in Congress.

WARNING

Note a word of warning issued as to naming female children with surnames beginning with a "T." For example take a child named Tetley. If she was given the names of Catherine Arline her initials would read C.A.T. and might prove embarrassing. Or take a child named Dunn. If she was named Myrtle Althea her initials would be M.A.D. This brings to mind the tale of the executive named Daniel Arthur Morton who had a secretary named Mary Anne Delaney. So at the end of this executives letters appeared the initials DAM/MAD.

ARMY QUERY

Are you, by any chance, in the army now? How are you getting along with the top sergeant? Here's a question to ask him. The rifles are carried on the right shoulder by soldiers of the United States, Russia, China, Ireland, France, Italy and Japan. And the rifles of the soldiers of the British Empire, Spain and Germany are carried on the left shoulder. Why?

GROWING PROFESSION

The most rapidly grown profession in this country is reported to be that of so called "public relations counsel." The first public relations counsel and originator of that type of activity was Ivy Lee. He acted for John D. Rockefeller, the Bethlehem Steel Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad. Many people fail to distinguish between a "press agent" and "a public relations counsel." There is a difference. The press agent specializes in publicity. The public relations counsel specializes in propaganda.

NAME THE SAME

Now I have a reader in Memphis, Mich. I appreciate her interest. However, I am opposed to the name of her town. I believe the name Memphis should be exclusively used by that municipality in Tennessee. I feel the same about all smaller towns having the names of larger places. Let the largest city keep the name. Have the others vote for a new name . This goes for Newark, N. J. and Newark, Del., Pasadena, Calif. and Pasadena, Md., Albany, N. Y. and Albany, Ga. And so on. And don't forget those seventeen places in this country named Brooklyn. Sixteen of these towns should change their names leaving only Brooklyn, N. Y., the original Brooklyn, and the largest place of that name.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Are you familiar with the poem beginning, "When you were a tadpole and I was a fish?" A. Yes, ma'am. It is titled "Evolution" and was written by Langdon Smith. Q. I claim Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys appeared in a silent film produced about 40 years ago. Right? A. Quite right sir. The film you have in mind was titled "A Favorite Fool" and was produced at the D. W. Griffith studios in Hollywood in 1915.

Alcohol Has Great Effect On Nervous System

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Alcohol is a drug and as such has chemical and physiological effects. It is absorbed directly from the stomach and goes to all the organs of the body but the nervous system is influenced most.

The chemical is absorbed faster than any other food or drink because it does not need to be digested. Absorption is slowed by the presence of food in the stomach, especially milk, cream, fat, or meat. The wise man or woman will eat before attending a cocktail party and indulge freely in hors d'oeuvres after arriving.

The concentration of alcohol also affects absorption. Dr. Harold E. Himwich says a single drink of eight ounces of whisky produces a higher level of alcohol in the blood than 2½ ounces taken four times a day at three hour intervals. A "shot" of straight whisky or a martini depresses the brain more than a diluted drink.

Lesser concentrations, below 10 per cent, have the least reaction because absorption is delayed. From 10 to 30 per cent, found in wines and highballs, is said to provide the most rapid rate of absorption but the depressing effect on the brain is not as marked as when the concentration is 50 per cent (100 proof). More diluted drinks are less irritating to the stomach. In Europe, the governments help their people to saner drinking by keeping the proof down on all packaged products.

What happens after alcohol is absorbed? It is carried by the blood throughout the body and, like other chemicals, is used, stored, or eliminated. It has no food value and is eliminated or detoxified at the rate of one ounce an hour.

Ten per cent is eliminated through the kidneys, lungs, and sweat glands. The remainder must be burned up (oxidized). Alcohol is changed initially into acetaldehyde, which in turn is oxidized into acetic acid, and ultimately into carbon dioxide and water.

Acetaldehyde is mainly responsible for the hangover. Dizziness and nausea are produced by the effect of alcohol on the brain and labyrinth of the ear. Anything that hastens oxidization of acetaldehyde helps shorten and minimize the results of overindulgence. Food does this, particularly carbohydrates, proteins, vitamins, and fluids. Insulin also is useful along this line.

EDEMA AND FLUID

D. F. writes: My feet and legs swell during the day. Will drinking less water prevent this puffiness?

REPLY

It will help but there are so many reasons why puffiness develops that you should bring the condition to the attention of your physician. Causes vary from glandular disorders to dropsy.

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL

G. S. M. writes: What is the difference between neuritis and neurosis?

REPLY

Neuritis is inflammation of a nerve. A neurosis is an emotional disturbance in which the person has symptoms that mimic an organic disease such as heart trouble, peptic ulcer, or bronchitis.

MORNING THROAT

F. P. writes: Every morning I awaken with a scratchy throat. As the day goes by it improves and is gone by evening. But the next morning—there it is again. What can you suggest?

REPLY

This sensation usually stems from a nasal discharge that adheres to the back of the throat. But why guess? Ask your physician to examine your throat.

TRAVELING ARTHRITIS

F. H. writes: Does arthritis travel?

REPLY

Yes, from one joint to another.

NUMBER OF VACCINATED

M. W. writes: Approximately how many people have received the Salk vaccine?

REPLY

It is estimated that as of March 1, 1957, around 51 million persons under 40 have received one, two, or three doses of the Salk vaccine.

INSOMNIA AND POP

S. D. writes: Does pop keep a person awake at night the way coffee does?

REPLY

Yes, if the soft drink contains caffeine. I assume that you do not mean that pop snores too loud.

TOMORROW: Muscular development.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

If you love romance, your heart will warm to the story of the tomcat who was courting his mate-to-be on the back fence. "I would die for you," proclaimed the tomcat dramatically. She purred coyly and whispered, "How many times?"

Letter received by the parents of a 9-year-old camper: "Dear Mom and Pop: Camp is O. K. The food is wonderful and they don't make you eat it. Love, Allen"

Montmorency Marriem was a great believer in the old adage that you can marry more money in five minutes than you can earn in a lifetime. Now, wed to the daughter of the town's richest banker, he leaned back in his favorite chair and reminisced. "Yes, gentlemen," he chuckled, "I can remember the first dollar I ever earned—back in 1942 when I helped Lady Pickens across Main Street. I remember the other one, too. That was in 1950—and maybe I didn't exactly earn it. I found it."

Winkler Joins Air Force; Goes To Lackland Base

LONACONING — Valley High School's "office boy," Leo Winkler, who set up the morning attendance as assistant to William W. Saylor, vice principal, has joined the United States Air Force.

He left for his final physical examination on Tuesday, June 11, just one month prior to his eighteenth birthday, and following his passing at Baltimore has gone to the Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, Texas, for his basic Air Force training.

Leo was awarded the Lonaconing Rotary Club "Service Above Self" award at the Valley High School commencement exercises on Wednesday, June 5. The presentation was made to the Senior student who best exemplifies this Rotary motto and Winkler was the winner by faculty recommendation.

Social Planned

KEYSER — The Catholic Women's group of the Church of the Assumption will conduct and sponsor an ice cream social in St. Mary's Hall on James Street, Tuesday, July 16, from 7 to 10 p.m. The women announce there will be cakes, pies, candies, tonic and other goodies for the public.

B&O Glee Club Sings July 13 At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Baltimore and Ohio Glee Club, consisting of one hundred male voices under the direction of Dr. James Allen Dash will present a varied program of popular and classic vocal selections when they appear at Compton Hall, July 13 at 8:30 p. m. under the auspices of Frostburg Community Programs Inc.

The glee club will arrive in Cumberland aboard a special car coach on the B and O Railroad Saturday afternoon, and will be brought to Frostburg immediately on Peoples Transit Company buses. The group will have their dinner in the dining hall of Frostburg State Teachers College, and the program will begin promptly at 8:30, according to Edward Flanigan, president to the sponsoring group.

The B and O Glee club is one of the oldest and best known musical organizations in this part of the country, and it is unusual for this group to appear in a city the size of Frostburg, having given most of their concerts in the large metropolitan centers.

They have been heard over all of the major networks, and have received an enthusiastic reception wherever they appear.

Season tickets now in the hands of the public will be accepted for admission to this outstanding presentation, but anyone wishing to secure tickets may obtain them at the door on Saturday evening.

Truckers Protest Detour

EVERETT, Pa. — Trucking firms of the Everett area are busy compiling figures on potential revenue losses in hopes that they may be able to have solid information ready for a conference next week with State Highway Dept. officials on the detour situation east of Everett.

The firms contend they will lose thousands of dollars if the state goes through with its announced plan to close U.S. Route 30 between Everett and Breezewood for a year starting in the fall, during a reconstruction project on six miles of it. Under current plans, the State would establish a 67-mile "official" detour through the Broad Top area, although most truck traffic would use the shorter, 26-mile "unofficial" detour, by coming to Bedford on U.S. 30 and going to Breezewood by the Turnpike.

Everett is seeking a change in plans to set up a temporary "Everett Interchange" on the Turnpike for truck-traffic use in Breezewood, to bypass the closed part of Route 30. Truck companies have warned they will probably be forced to close their Everett operations and move elsewhere unless some such arrangement can be made.

Bedford county Democratic chairman Ray G. Replogle said Monday that as soon as data is compiled by the truckers, showing the exact amount of financial loss the detour would cause them, a conference will be held with highway secretary Joseph Lawler in Harrisburg on the temporary-interchange proposal. Replogle is one of a three-man committee representing Everett's interests in the matter. Others are Democratic county commissioner C. Clair Winter, who is president of the First National Bank of Everett and the Lincoln Highway Association, and J. S. Buchannan, president of the Everett borough council.

Mr. Thomas guessed the weight correctly at 1,655 and was awarded his choice of one of four prizes offered by the appliance store.

Mr. Walter Capel, manager of the store, said 1,500 entries were received in the contest which closed Wednesday with one as far away as Woodbridge, N. J.

Three Teachers Resign In Tucker County

PARSONS—The Tucker County Board of Education accepted the resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Ira McDowell and Robert T. Deem at a meeting in the office of the county superintendent of schools, Stelman W. Harper.

Deem has been a teacher in the Tucker County school system for 31 years and the past 13 years he has taught in Parsons Graded School. He has accepted a position in a school in Parkersburg.

Mrs. McDowell has taught in the Tucker County school system 32 years and the past year she taught in Mountaineer Junior High School in Davis.

McDowell, who was principal of Mountaineer Junior High School last year, has taught in the Tucker County schools for 23 years. Both Mr. and Mrs. McDowell have accepted positions in the Wood County school system.

The vacancy in Parsons Graded School will not be filled because of a drop in enrollment and the vacancies created by the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will be filled later by the board.

The board approved Mrs. Carl R. Barr as 4-H Club agent subject to the approval of the Extension board and West Virginia University. Mrs. Barr has been a teacher in Parsons Graded School for several years.

The board voted to renew building and contents insurance in the amount of $250,000 which becomes due July 25. Governor May Delay Sale Of Bonus Bonds

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11 (AP)—Gov. Underwood may wait "a reasonable time" before selling bonds to finance the Korean veterans' bonus in West Virginia, an attorney general's opinion said today.

The opinion written by Asst. Gen. Virginia Mae Brown was in answer to an inquiry from the governor. He understood the bonds could not be sold now at the limit of 3¼ per cent interest set by the 1957 Legislature.

Underwood wrote Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron that Treasurer Orel J. Skeen advised that the bonds could not be marketed under the legislative ceiling.

"I am further advised," Underwood wrote, "that it would cost the State about $1,500 to advertise an offering of these bonds and I do not desire to spend the State's money in this fashion unless there is some legal requirement that I do so."

The opinion concluded that the governor was given complete discretion by the Legislature as to how and when to sell the bonus bonds.

Mrs. Brown wrote:

"It is our considered opinion that you . . . are vested by law with the discretion to offer for sale, and to sell, the Korean veterans' bonus bonds within a reasonable time, in blocks or in the full amount authorized under the law, depending upon which time and what amount in your opinion is most advantageous and beneficial to the people of this state."

Teenagers Held As Car Theft Suspects

KEYSER, W. Va.—Two teenage New York youth were arrested yesterday in Rawlings, Wyo., after a chase from Denver by Colorado State Police who spotted the couple in a car which had been reported stolen here Sunday.

The youths, William Schultz Jr., 15, of New York City, and Arnold Theodore Dietrich, 16, of Ridgewood, N. Y., are being held in Rawlings for New York and West Virginia authorities, and also face action by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Keyser authorities said they received a radio call Tuesday from the Colorado State Police, requesting information on the ownership of a 1956 model sedan carrying West Virginia license plates numbered—57043.

It was established that Thomas Bosley Jr., of Keyser, reported his car, carrying those license plates, had been stolen Sunday while he and his family were attending church services.

Bosley told police the car had first been noticed stolen when he sent a young daughter out of church to get something from the vehicle. She came back and told him she could not locate the family car and after investigating himself he notified authorities of the theft.

In connection with the investigation of the stolen Bosley auto, police discovered that an abandoned 1957 model car on McMullen Highway was found to have been stolen in New York City on the evening of June 29.

Questioning of residents of the region near McCoole brought out the fact that two young boys had been seen working on the car. Police surmise that the boys walked to Keyser from where they drove off in the Bosley vehicle.

Plan Social

MT. SAVAGE — The WSCS of Mt. Savage Methodist Church will sponsor an ice cream social at the church July 11 at 1 p. m. The society is also selling religious napkins and taking orders for Christmas candies which they will display at the ice cream social.

Praline Cereal Crunch Topping For Ice Cream

Serve Praline Cereal Crunch on top of ice cream for an unusual dessert that is quick to prepare. Rolled oats, brown sugar, butter, and nuts are combined in making this crunchy, full-flavored topping.

This topping is but one of the many ingredient uses of breakfast cereals. Many cooky, bread, pie crust, muffin, meat loaf, dessert, and candy recipes call for the use of hot or ready-to-eat cereals. Breakfast cereals are excellent for ingredient use in recipes because they enhance flavor, are inexpensive, offer wide variety, and make important nutritional contributions of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals, and food energy.

Praline Cereal Crunch can be served plain on top of vanilla ice cream or combined with chocolate, hot fudge, caramel, or butterscotch sauce. This crunch mixed with sweetened whipped cream is delicious served on cake squares.

The hostess with a supply of Praline Cereal Crunch and vanilla ice cream is prepared for unexpected company and can serve an attractive dessert on short notice. Praline Cereal Crunch keeps well in an air-tight container.

Praline Cereal Crunch

- ⅓ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup water
- 1 cup rolled oats, regular or quick
- ½ cup chopped peanuts

Combine butter or margarine, sugars, salt, and water in frying pan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture reaches the soft ball stage (238°-240°F.). Remove from heat and add rolled oats and nuts. Stir until mixture thickens and looses its gloss. Spread onto lightly buttered baking sheet. When "set" crush into tiny bits. Serve atop vanilla ice cream, or chocolate or butterscotch sundaes. Yield: Approximately 3 cups of crunch.

The mongoose destroys not only the eggs and young of the most venomous snakes, but the serpents themselves.

Ham Dinner Menu

Baked Ham with Orange Glaze
Sweet-Sour Carrots and Onions
Spinach Ring
Lamb Cake

Orange Glaze:

1 cup brown sugar, juice and grated rind of 1 orange and 2 tablespoons butter. Orange slices cut in half may be arranged on ham with cherries for decoration.

Sweet-Sour Carrots and Onions

- 8 whole carrots
- 1 can small onions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 cup hot water

Parboil carrots. Brown butter, blend in cornstarch and continue browning, stirring constantly. Add seasonings. Combine brown sugar, vinegar and water and add to first mixture gradually; cook slowly until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour over carrots and onions which are arranged in baking dish. Bake at 350° F. for 20 minutes.

Spinach Ring:

- 3 packages frozen, chopped spinach, thawed
- 2 cups mushroom soup
- 2 eggs

Mix thawed spinach with mushroom soup. Beat eggs slightly and add to spinach mixture. Mix thoroughly. Pour mixture into buttered ring mold. Bake at 350° F. for 35 minutes.

Lamb Cake:

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 beaten egg whites
- ½ cup shortening
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift all dry ingredients together. Stir shortening in mixing bowl, to soften. Mix in sifted dry ingredients. Add milk and vanilla and beat with electric mixer for two minutes. Fold in beaten egg whites and beat for one minute. Grease lamb mold very well, flour, fill the half containing the lamb's face. Insert a toothpick in nose for reinforcement, cover with other half of mold, being sure the edges "lock." Place mold on a cookie sheet, bake for 50 to 60 minutes in a 370° oven. Let cool slightly before removing from mold. Frost with white icing, sprinkle with coconut, decorate with a cherry for the nose, raisins for eyes, ribbon or flowers around the neck. Be sure oven is at least 370°. Tint coconut green and spread around lamb as grass. Dilute ¼ teaspoon of green food dye with ¼ cup of water. Sprinkle jelly beans on coconut "grass."

Variety Box Lunch Menu

Whether you're embarking upon a new career or are a "veteran" in the business world you've undoubtedly discovered that lunchtime presents a host of problems to the working gal.

Each week these noon-time repasts consume a large piece of your salary, and are often eaten in crowded restaurants where the food is expensive and hurriedly prepared. When shopping and errands are squeezed into short lunch hours they leave barely enough time for a "quick bite" at some busy counter.

These noon headaches needn't worry or bother you...tote your lunch to the office, school or department store, as so many smart careerists are doing these days. It will amount to a saving in time, energy and money.

Here's a unique box lunch for all careerists, a menu that's easy to do and requires little in the way of advance preparation: Hot beef consomme and skinless frankfurters in a thermos, buttered bread slices, stuffed celery and assorted relishes, coffee and a gingerbread square.

Preparing this luncheon menufare will take but a few moments in the evening, with the final touches given before catching that 8:00 bus. Simply heat the consomme in a saucepan, then pour into the thermos (preheat with warm water first). Add skinless franks whole or in slices as you prefer.

Skinless frankfurters are ideal treats to feature for your office or school lunches. All-meat and pre-cooked, there's no waste and they need only to be heated through before serving. By slipping one or two into a thermos of hot consomme they'll be heated through and kept warm until 12:00 rolls around.

Eat your frank as is, accompanied by a cup of the hot soup, or slice it and place between buttered bread halves with your choice of topping.

For an interesting variation, try cream of tomato soup or vegetable soup with the franks added to them. Any way that you prepare these tasty wieners, you'll find that they add variety and interest to otherwise monotonous lunches.

Baked Turkey Salad

- 1 can (8 oz.) Peas
- 1 cup cooked or canned turkey

A little girl's enjoyment of a daily bath can be an important factor in her future beauty!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Bathtime Is Fun Time

It is most important that every little girl be started in life with the right beauty habits...and her beauty habits begin with her very first bath.

That's why it is so vital that young fry be introduced to bathing in such a fashion that they enjoy it. Make it a pleasure — not just a task.

Bath Is Fun Time

A bit of psychology pays off handsomely. Make bathtime fun with appealing washing aids. Bath toys are a great boon and fancy brushes or washcloths have a special attraction for little girls.

As one mother recently told me, bathtime became a bore for her youngsters when she attempted to discourage their splashing sessions to get them into bed in record time. The enjoyment of bathing was retrieved when she reversed the trend by squeezing water-filled clothes over their heads and also allowed the children to paint soap whiskers on her! Rugged—but admirable!

The Army Game

An ex-GI friend of mine solved the morning wash-up problems by introducing a sort of Army game. When washed, dressed and spruced, the children rush to line up to vie to pass his inspection.

But even with a little girl, cleanliness never should become a bug-a-boo. Don't suds down every smudge she acquires. Let the dirt accumulate until playtime is over. Then she'll notice the dirt coming off and clean, pink skin shining—and enjoy it.

The child who detests a scrubbing is one who has never been taught to revel in a bath. The child who luxuriates in cleanliness is sure to grow lovelier and lovelier!

Tomorrow: Head Start.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. De Witt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Various congressional committees now reviewing the Nation's economic health are in substantial agreement that a major factor creating inflation is excessive Federal spending. Inflation can be stopped if we are willing to cut drastically some Federal programs, eliminate others, and avoid any new programs.

The report of the Joint Subcommittee on Fiscal Policy stresses the fact that if further inflation is to be avoided, basic revision in existing Federal programs must be made as well as foregoing new expenditures.

An example of a new Federal spending program is aid for school construction. All agree that school construction is a local problem and as such should remain under local control. Further, no witness in testimony on the school construction bill has been able to name a single State that could not build its schools without Federal aid.

The trouble is that the States have become so used to turning to the Federal Government for help that the process is almost automatic. Of any new program requiring Federal aid we ought to ask ourselves: (1) Does the need for Federal aid outweigh the necessity for a drastic curtailment in Federal spending and halting inflation? (2) Do we not owe it to ourselves and our children to practice self-restraint in calling on the Federal Government to take over programs that are better and less expensively done at home? (3) Or, are the States so bankrupt in responsibility that Federal aid is necessary and economic risks must be taken?

There is only one way in which taxes can be reduced and monetary restraints eased and that is by stopping increases in Federal Government spending. The cost of maintaining the Federal Government can be materially reduced if the States will assume their rightful duties and cease calling on Washington for aid in matters that are best handled and financed by local authority and under their control.

Last week I introduced a bill to make information obtained by ministers of religion a privileged matter and amend the District of Columbia law so that ministers would not be required to disclose in court confidential communications.

NAM Pays Tribute To Nation's Teachers

Educators from Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania had a hand in the preparation of a 20-page booklet entitled "Our Teachers — Their Importance to Our Children and Our Community" which the National Association of Manufacturers has just published.

In this booklet the NAM urges immediate and continuing recognition of the public school teacher's vital role in society.

The booklet was the cooperative effort of the project advisory and educational aids advisory committees. The latter committee includes Dr. John J. Seidel, assistant state superintendent for vocational education in Maryland, and David H. McKinley, assistant dean, College of Business Administration, Pennsylvania State University. The project advisory committee included Clara G. Stratemeyer, supervisor of elementary schools in Montgomery County, and Jessie Cunningham, dean of girls at Wheeling (W. Va.) High School.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 club	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

South forgot an elementary principle of declarer's play — leading toward high cards — and thereby threw away a vulnerable game in today's hand.

East opened with one club and South chose to overcall with four hearts. His hand figured to produce nine tricks and required only a spade honor from partner to produce a game. Then, too, such a call may have the effect of blocking the adversaries out of a profitable minor suit contract. Observe that East-West are down only one in five clubs and yet neither is to be criticized for failing to act over South's game bid.

West opened the king of clubs. Declarer ruffed, drew two rounds of trumps and in the expectation of losing only two spades and a diamond, he led the queen of spades from his own hand. This was taken by East with the ace and a club came back.

Declarer then played the jack of spades to drive out West's king. But when East showed out, declarer learned to his dismay that he must lose a spade trick to West's nine and fall one trick short of his goal. This was admittedly a bad break, but one which declarer could have circumvented by exercising caution in the development of the spade suit.

Instead of leading an honor from his own hand, declarer should have arranged to make the first lead in the suit from the dummy. After trumps were drawn he should have led a diamond. East would win and force declarer with a club. Then dummy would be entered with a diamond and a low spade lead would have brought forth East's ace and settled the issue then and there. This is a safety play which can be made by declarer at no cost whatsoever and protects against the holding of a singleton honor by East. Against all other holdings declarer can do no worse than break even.

Sherbet Made With Canned Apple Sauce

Bright new idea is this — using canned apple sauce to make a frosty sherbet. But here it is! Pretty in the dish, chill to the taste, cool going down, economical — a refreshment that will certainly help keep the good old summertime good.

If you like apple sauce, and everyone seems to, then you'll enjoy this sherbet. You'll like the lively tang of the apple sauce given an edge with lemon and orange, the hint of creaminess in the sherbet texture, the pure chilled delight of its eating.

You might make the sherbet in the morning, to rest in refrigerator trays until you're ready to serve it — maybe as dessert for noon or evening meal — maybe as a pleasant any-hour surprise treat for family and guests.

And how simple this sherbet is to make!

Frosty Apple Sauce Sherbet

2 cups canned apple sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
¼ cup orange juice
⅓ cup confectioners sugar
1 can (14½ oz.) evaporated milk
Few grains salt

Mix apple sauce, lemon juice, lemon rind, orange juice and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add evaporated milk and salt. Pour into freezing trays of automatic refrigerator with cold control set at point recommended by manufacturer for freezing ice cream. Freeze to mush. Place in chilled bowl, beat with rotary beater until fluffy. Return to freezer trays; freeze until firm, stirring several times. Yields 8-10 servings.

(This is an original recipe kitchen tested by Gertrude Lynn, nationally known Home Economist.)

And Suddenly It's July!!

Not only are blossoms bursting out all over but everyone—but everyone—has decided on a July wedding! Entertaining for today's bride-elect is no simple matter. Her days are scheduled and programmed sometimes weeks in advance so impromptu parties by her nearest and dearest friends can not always be managed. But after a mutually agreeable date, time, place and type of party have been settled with the bride-elect and her mother the rest of the arrangements need not be complicated. Careful planning and advance preparation make it possible to serve fairly elaborate foods with ease and assurance. Such a menu is this one chosen for a bridal shower luncheon.

Baked Avocados With Chicken Salad

Ripe Olives — Potato Chips
Sweet Pickles — Radish Roses
Butterhorn Rolls
Meringue Shells with Ice Cream and Fresh Fruit

As you can see, this menu is simple—and requires little cooking and last minute preparation. Truly, it's a pleasure to prepare and a joy to serve.

Baked Avocados With Chicken Salad

3 ripe avocados
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup finely cut celery
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup mayonnaise
1½ cups corn flakes
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Cut each avocado in half lengthwise, remove seed and pare. Brush with lemon juice. Combine chicken, celery, salt, pepper and mayonnaise; spoon lightly into avocado shells. Crush corn flakes, slightly; mix with melted butter. Sprinkle over chicken. Place shells in greased shallow pan. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) about 15 minutes, or until heated thoroughly. Serve at once.

Yield: 6 servings

Cereal Meringues

3 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring
3 cups sugar coated puffed corn

Beat egg whites until frothy; sprinkle with salt and cream of tartar. Beat until stiff but not dry. Beat in sugar, a tablespoon at a time, adding vanilla with last of sugar. Fold in sugar coated puffed corn. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto baking sheets covered with unglazed paper. Shape into shallow cups. Bake in very slow oven (275°F.) about 40 minutes or until lightly browned and dry on surface. Remove from paper while warm. Cool. Fill with ice cream topped with a fresh fruit, just before serving.

Yield 12 meringues, 3½ inches in diameter.

Weddings always produce unexpected visits from relatives and friends. What a dilemma—no refreshments! Here again is where a little advance thinking and preparation could prove to be a lifesaver. This recipe for Crunchy Torte can be baked and stored in the freezer. When the guests arrive, remove from the freezer, and by refreshment time, it's ready to serve.

Crunchy Torte

1½ cups oven-toasted rice cereal
3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 teaspoon baking powder dash salt
1 cup chopped nutmeats
whipped cream

Crush oven-toasted rice cereal into fine crumbs. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually beat in sugar. Add crushed oven-toasted cereal and mix well. Stir in vanilla, baking powder, salt and nutmeats. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into oven-toasted rice cereal mixture. Spread in greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares and serve with whipped cream.

Corned Beef Glamour

Glazes can be applied to corned beef much the same way as a ham. Remove the cooked corned beef from the liquid in which it was cooked. Place it on a rack in an open roasting pan. Top with a honey-brown sugar glaze or your favorite fruit glaze. Place the meat in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 30 minutes or until the glaze is set.

Player Brawl Marks Dodgers' 5-4 Win Over Redlegs

Raul Sanchez And Gilliam Swap Blows

Don Hoak Belted By Neal; Snider Hits Two Homers

BROOKLYN, July 11 (AP)—Duke Snider belted a pair of two-run homers and Brooklyn's Junior Gilliam and Cincinnati's Raul Sanchez belted each other in a pip of a player brawl tonight as the Dodgers twice came from behind to defeat the Redlegs 5-4.

Snider's 18th home run hauled the Brooks from behind for good to cap the bristling seventh, which had erupted into a two-fisted belting bout after Gilliam hit the dirt ducking one of Sanchez' pitches.

Junior attempted a drag bunt—it popped foul—on the next pitch. Then he tore into the rookie Redleg righthander who rushed off the mound to field the ball. They went at it in a punching tangle on the baseline with players from both benches spilling out onto the field and four or five from each club squaring off in side fights.

When things apparently had been quieted, Dodger Charlie Neal punched Redleg Don Hoak, an ex-Dodger. Hoak charged the Dodger dugout in pursuit of Neal, who had been swept away by teammates.

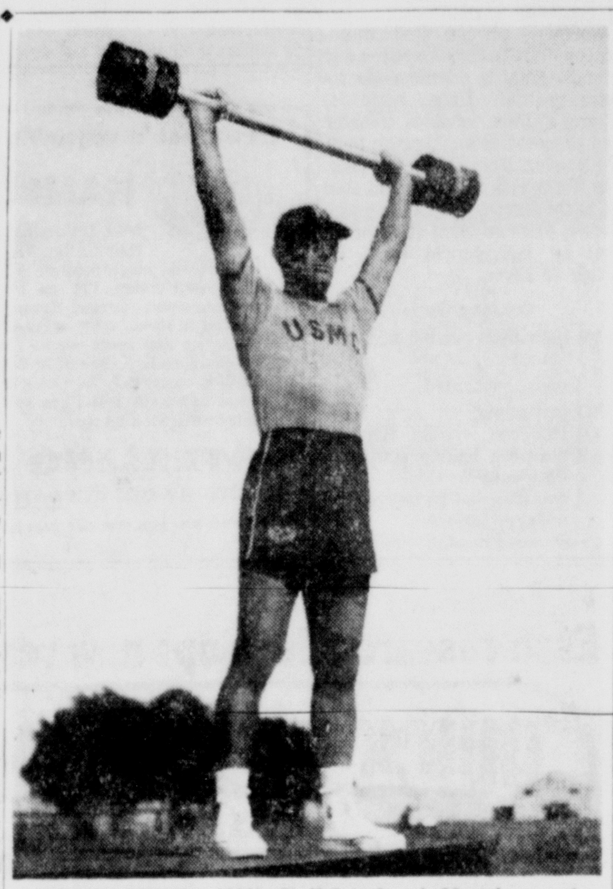

Neal, Gilliam, Sanchez and Hoak were thrown out of the game—a development that forced Dodger Manager Walt Alston to shift first baseman Gil Hodges to second base to fill in for Gilliam. It was Hodges' first appearance at second in 13 years of play in organized ball. He had no fielding chances in the two innings left.

Haddix Beats Bob Rush, 1-0

Phils Take First In Eleven Innings

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (AP)—Three straight singles in the eleventh inning—the last by second baseman Granny Hamner — enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to defeat the Chicago Cubs 1-0 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader at Connie Mack Stadium tonight.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix, who earned his eighth victory against five defeats, opened the 11th with a single. Richie Ashburn laid down a bunt and beat it out for a hit, Haddix moving to second. Then Hamner rapped his game winning single.

The defeat was a heart-breaker for Chicago's Bob Rush, who hurled hitless ball through the first seven innings. Chico Fernandez' leadoff single in the eighth was the first hit off the Cubs' right-hander, who lost his eighth game in nine decisions.

Haddix allowed eight hits in shaping his brilliant shutout victory, striking out eight and walking none. The Phillies wound up with five hits, four off Rush and Hamner's game winner off relief hurler Turk Lown who came in after Haddix and Ashburn reached base in the 11th.

The Phillies again lost the services of catcher Stan Lopata, who twisted his right knee in the last of the 10th as he attempted to avoid a tag when trapped between home and third base. Lopata was replaced by Joe Lonnett.

Cleveland Drops Pair To Orioles

CLEVELAND, July 11 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles jumped from sixth to fourth place in the American League tonight with two victories over the Cleveland Indians by identical 5-4 scores. The first game went 11 innings.

The Indians, who have lost seven straight, fell to a fifth place tie with Detroit, which lost a single game to Boston.

The sweep made it four straight for the Orioles over the Indians, and evened them at six games apiece for the season. Cleveland won 17 of 22 games with the Orioles last year.

Phils Bag Pair

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (AP) — Rookie Jack Sanford and veteran southpaw Harvey Haddix tonight pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a twi-night doubleheader victories—1-0 and 3-1—over the Chicago Cubs and into second place in the exciting National League pennant race.

The Phillies edged past the Milwaukee Braves into second place by one percentage point, two games behind the league leading St. Louis Cardinals.

A crowd of 25,897 fans at Connie Mack Stadium saw bids for no hitters in each game go awry in the late innings.

Sanford, 28, turned back the first 22 Cubs to face him in the second game as he worked toward a perfect game. But Chicago's Dale Long hit a broken bat single into right with one out in the eighth. The Cubs managed a walk and three more hits off Sanford who registered his 11th win against two defeats to make him the top winner of the National League.

Braves Gain On St. Louis, Trim Pirates

Logan Tops Attack In 7 To 2 Victory

PITTSBURGH, July 11 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves advanced to within two games of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals tonight by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2.

The Braves were edged out of second place by a percentage point when the Philadelphia Phillies took a doubleheader from the last-place Chicago Cubs 1-0, 3-1. The Cardinals lost 1-0 to the New York Giants this afternoon.

The Pirates committed six errors.

The Braves lost the services of shortstop Felix Mantilla and centerfielder Bill Bruton who were hurt when they collided trying to catch Bill Virdon's leadoff blooper in the first inning. The ball fell for a double and produced a one-run lead for the Bucs who had won four in a row.

The defeat was charged to starter Bob Friend who was lifted for a pinchhitter in the seventh. Friend gave up the four runs in the fourth on a base on balls, a single by Hank Aaron, an error by Frank Thomas, a sacrifice fly by West Covington, Frank Torre's single and Logan's fifth circuit blast of the season.

Bob Trowbridge went all the way for the Braves to record his third victory against one defeat. He gave up 12 hits but was tight in the pinches as the Pirates left 11 base runners stranded.

During the ninth the Pirates also lost catcher Hank Files. A foul tip injured the middle finger of his throwing hand.

Bruton suffered a loosened tooth and eight stitches had to be taken in his upper lip. Mantilla was treated for a bruised chest. Both players will receive X-ray examinations tomorrow.

Giants' Antonelli Masters St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0

Thomas Wins Contest With Circuit Belt

Lindy McDaniel Is Loser; Blasingame Has Eleven Assists

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Valmy Thomas hit a homer for the only run of the game and Johnny Antonelli pitched five-hit ball today as the New York Giants defeated the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals 1-0.

Antonelli's performance was matched by Lindy McDaniel, the 21-year-old elder of the sensational McDaniel brothers. Lindy allowed only three hits in seven innings, but one was Thomas' blow in the sixth.

Don Blasingame had an extremely active day at second base for the Cardinals. He made 11 assists, only 1 short of the modern major league record of 12 set by Junior Gilliam of Brooklyn July 21, 1956.

The game, one of the fastest of the year, took over 1 hour, 50 minutes.

Finns Hang Up World Record

AABO, Finland, July 11 (AP)—On the same running track where Australia's John Landy set the world mile record of 3:58 three years ago, three Finns today surpassed the world record for the 1,500 meters with times that approximated a mile in 3:57.

Olavi Salsola won the race in 3 minutes, 40.2 seconds. Olavi Salonen, who was placed second by the judges, was given the same time while Olavi Vuorisalo was third in 3:40.3.

All three were under the listed world record of 3:40.6, set by Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary at Tata, Hungary, last August. Dan Waern of Sweden, finished fourth in 3:40.8.

Salsola's time for 1,500-meters, about 120 yards less than a mile, is approximately equivalent to a mile in three minutes, 57 seconds.

Landy set his world mile record of 3:58 at Aabo, June 21, 1954. Since then Landy has run five mile races under four minutes and ten other milers have broken the four-minute barrier, but none has equalled Landy's time.

Rumors have been published that the American League baseball club would be moved to Minneapolis because of low attendance in Cleveland.

Daley, in an "official statement," said the management and stockholders do not now intend, and never have contemplated, transfer of the club to any other city.

Snead's First 10

DETROIT (AP)—"I've had eights before, but never a 10," declared Sam Snead after he went six shots over par on the 459-yard fourth hole at Plum Hollow in the Western Open.

Snead's 10 put him seven strokes over par for the first four holes during the first round. However, he played the last 14 holes in two under par for a 75.

"FINEST HOUR"—Tennis queen Althea Gibson, the 29-year-old Harlem girl whose Wimbledon victory set a precedent for her race, waves to throngs along Broadway on her triumphal parade to City Hall in New York City for welcome home ceremonies. Althea, almost overcome with emotion, told City Hall crowds—"This is my finest hour." Flanking the tennis star in the car's rear seat are Manhattan borough president, Hulan E. Jack, left, and Richard C. Patterson, Jr., city greeter. (AP Photofax).

Althea Gibson Given Ticker Tape Parade

New York Greets Tennis Champion

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—This was Althea Gibson's day in New York, and the Wimbledon Tennis queen from Harlem loved it.

"Amazing, wonderful, the greatest moment of my life," the gangling, 29-year-old garageman's daughter exclaimed as the big city paid her tribute with a ticker-tape parade up Broadway and an official welcome at City Hall.

"It's a long, long way from 143rd Street to Wimbledon, but you made it in a dignified way," said Mayor Robert Wagner.

The Negro girl, first of her race to win a singles title at Wimbledon, was almost overcome with emotion. But she collected herself and replied:

"There is no greater honor than I am receiving today. God grant that I wear the crown I won with dignity and defend it with the highest honor."

Ceremonies completed, Miss Gibson now must pack her rackets and head for Chicago where she will compete in the National Clay Courts Championship, opening Saturday.

In an open car, Althea swept up Broadway from Bowling Green while thousands, lining the parade route and leaning out skyscraper windows, cheered and tossed down ticker tape and bits of paper.

Miss Gibson rode in a car with Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack, City Commissioner Richardson C. Patterson Jr. and Bertram L. Baker, executive secretary of the American (Negro) Tennis Assn.

More than 1,000 persons jammed in front of the City Hall steps to hear Mayor Wagner term Miss Gibson a credit to the nation and "the greatest women's tennis player in the world."

Classic May Draw Eight

Barbizon, Iron Liege 8-5 Choice

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—A field of eight, headed by Calumet Farm's entry of Iron Liege and Barbizon, is expected for Saturday's $100,000 added Arlington Classic at a mile.

The entry is an early 8-5 favorite with Fred W. Hooper's Greek Games a 5-2 choice.

Other probable starters are Louis Lee Haggin II's Manteau, Mrs. Adele Rand's Clem, Reverie Knoll Farm's Jet Colonel, Mrs. Thelma Ott's Ekaba and William S. Miller's Better Bee.

Gomes Favored In Ohio Fight

CLEVELAND, July 11 (AP)—Harold Gomes, a featherweight who frequently goes against the heavier fighters to get more bouts, is a 7-5 favorite to beat Lulu Perez in their 10-round lightweight encounter here tomorrow night.

The fight, feature of a boxing show at a factory recreation hall in suburban Euclid, will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC) starting at 10 p.m., eastern daylight time.

Perez, who has outgrown the featherweight class in which he made most of his reputation, will carry a slight weight advantage.

Gomes, of Providence, R. I., has been given the favorite's role largely because of his knockout triumph over Bobby Rogers of Chicago last April in Gomes' only television appearance.

Perez, a New York-born youngster of Puerto Rican descent, is making a comeback and has won his last two bouts.

Luscious Luke

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Luke Easter, big first baseman who has struck some prodigious wallops during his baseball career, really showed the Richmond fans how it's done.

Easter, who plays for the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, swatted a fast ball over the centerfield fence — only the third time the feat has been accomplished, twice by him. The ball traveled more than 400 feet. The following night, Luke slugged a curve ball over the right centerfield fence, another 400-foot plus blow.

Could Spell Gallatin

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Vince Boryla of the New York Knickerbockers believes he may have come up with a replacement for Harry Gallatin, the great rebounder he traded. His new hope is Raeford Wells, leading scorer and rebounder for Lenoir Rhyne College at Hickory, N. C., the last four years.

Wells is 6-feet-7 and scales 243 pounds. He is 22. In 106 games at Rhyne he scored 2,627 points for a career average of 24.8. In one game against Guilford College he netted 55 points.

Dick Klavuhn's single to right field with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 7th inning scored the run that gave the B.P.O. Elks a 6-5 decision over Celanese yesterday at Celanese Field in a Rocking Chair Softball League game.

The victory was the 7th in a row for Manager "Tag" Reel's second place club and went to Bill Underdonk, who had relieved Klavuhn in the third inning. The last defeat suffered by the Elks came at the hands of the Outdoor Club on June 6 when "Pete" Elliott decisioned Underdonk, 5-2.

Win Uphill Battle

Trailing 5-2, the Elks scored three runs to knot the count at 5-all in the 6th. Roy Manges led off the 7th with a double and took third on a hit by "Pooch" Orndorff. After Underdonk was intentionally passed, Klavuhn nicked "Dusty" Rhodes for the hit that settled the issue.

Klavuhn accounted for three of the Elks' 11 hits. Bob Keyser pounded a homer and single and Underdonk and Orndorff collected two hits each. Jack Kauffman with a triple and single and Art Surash and Dick Hale with two hits each were responsible for half of the Silks' 12 blows. Surash and Cal Eaton of Celanese and McGann and Manges of the Elks were the game's fielding stars.

The V.F.W. trimmed the Knights of Columbus at Stitcher Field by the score of 14-5 behind a six-hit pitching performance by "Chug" Aman.

Aman sparked the Vets' 15-hit assault with a double and two singles, Fradiska and Tom Morgan had two hits each and "Perk" Robinette blasted a triple. Steiner homered and doubled and Harden rapped a two-bagger for the Caseys.

Jim Angellatta Scores

Jimmy Angellatta made his first start of the season for the Loyal Order of Moose and turned back Ritter's Social Club at Fort Hill by the score of 6-4. The southpaw "junkman" kept seven hits well separated and retired in order 11 of the first 12 batsmen to face him.

Elmer Furlow of the Moose opened the game with a home run and also rapped a single. Angellatta had two singles and John Esposito banged a two-bagger. Walter Hite smacked a two-run triple for Ritter's in the fourth inning.

Red Sox Win Over Detroit In Tenth, 9-7

Sleater's Errors Cost Tigers Game

DETROIT, July 11 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox scored two runs in the 10th inning after pitcher Lou Sleater committed two errors on one play and defeated the Detroit Tigers 9-7 today in a rain drenched contest that lasted almost four hours.

Boston led from the first inning until the last of the eighth when Ray Boone homered for Detroit with a man on base and knotted the score at 7-7.

In the top of the 10th Frank Malzone walked and Billy Consolo sacrificed. Slater kicked the ball in trying to pick it up, allowing Consolo to reach first, then threw low for a second error as Malzone scooted to third. Duke Maas replaced Sleater and retired one man but pinch hitter Gene Stephens singled past the drawn-in infield for one run and Jimmy Piersall lifted a long sacrifice fly that scored another.

The Tigers put two men on base in the last of the 10th but stranded them. Altogether the Tigers stranded 14 men, 11 of them in the first six innings.

The Tigers outhit Boston 16-13, their biggest hit total of the season, but only Boone's homer and a double by Dave Philley went for more than a single base.

Boone and Bolling each had four hits for Detroit. Bolling now has hit in 12 straight games. Consolo had two for three for Boston and scored four runs.

Boston missed a scoring chance in the ninth when Jackie Jensen, who had two hits for the afternoon, lashed a stand-up double but was retired for failing to touch first base.

20th Legion Season

Joe Having Big Year

CCC Victor Is Champ

Bill Kirk Resigns

By C. V. BURNS

THIS is the twentieth year for American Legion junior baseball in Allegany county.

The nationwide program was launched in 1926 and Cumberland joined the movement two years later.

Harold Naughton, now a well known Cumberland attorney, managed the first championship team here in 1928. The club was known as the Nu Grapes, sponsored by a local bottling works and named after a soft drink. The Nu Grapes won the title in the Legion Junior League that year, defeated Hagerstown, 5-2, for the Western Maryland crown, and lost out in the state tourney at Baltimore. The Playground Athletic League of Baltimore had charge of the Maryland Department tournaments in those days.

The Dokkies, sponsored by Wahaba Temple No. 237, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, and managed by "Jerry" Wilkinson, present county commissioner, beat out the B. P. O. Elks for the city league title in 1929, tripped Hagerstown, 4-3, and lost out to the powerful B. & O. Post team of Baltimore in the state tourney, 7-1.

In 1930 the B. P. O. Elks captured the city and district honors. B. & O. Post romped off with department honors.

From 1931 through 1935, Fort Cumberland Post sponsored its own teams. In 1933, 1934 and 1935 the locals copped state titles. In the Region 10 tourney at Allentown, Pa., in 1933, Fort Cumberland beat Washington, D. C., and Clarksburg, W. Va., but lost out in the finals to Reading, Pa.

The big year was 1934 when Post No. 13 won tournaments at Bethlehem, Pa., and Gastonia, N. C., and went on to cop the national title by taking two out of three games from New Orleans at Comiskey Park and Wrigley Field, Chicago.

In 1935, Fort Cumberland Post advanced to the regional at Bethlehem, Pa., but there was eliminated by Bethlehem, 4-3, and Plains, Pa., 10-6.

Allegany County dropped out of the Legion baseball picture from 1936 through 1945.

In the past 11 years of competition in the Mountain district, comprising Garrett and Allegany counties, Fort Cumberland has won the title seven times—the last four in a row. Midland Post has finished on top twice and James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, and Victory Post, Westernport, once each. None of these teams have won the state tourney.

JOSEPH W. HEMMIS, local motorcycle hill climbing ace, has finished "in the money" in every one of the 14 events in which he has participated this year in seven different cities.

The 29-year-old B.&O. railroad clerk, has won seven events, finished second three times, was third once and came in fourth on three occasions.

Hemmis' banner year was 1954 when he figured in 19 meets in 16 different cities and six states and was "in the money" 32 times in 38 events. His record that year was 11 firsts, 9 seconds, 5 thirds and 7 fourths.

Here's how Joe has fared so far this year:

MRS. EDWARD STUMPP, of Wheeling, who won the West Virginia state amateur golf championship at White Sulphur Springs the past weekend by defeating Berridge (Berri) Long of Huntingdon, 3 and 2, is the same lady who copped the Old Export Bowl in the second annual invitation tourney at the Cumberland Country Club in 1952.

Five years ago she was Mrs. Nancy Bycott. Her maiden name was Nancy King.

The defeat for Miss Long was her first in tournament play since 1952 when she won the first of five successive titles at the age of 15. She had taken 23 consecutive matches.

On her way to this year's final Miss Long eliminated Mrs. John McCuskey, of Clarksburg, winner of the first of the seven Cumberland invitational tournaments in 1951.

TO BOXING FAN:

Benny Leonard, one-time lightweight champion of the world, never boxed in Cumberland.

In August 1940, Benny came here and refereed in a fistic show at Community Park during the American Legion Convention. The promoter was Tommy Maus and the matchmaker Teddy Sells.

Leonard quit the ring in 1932 after being knocked out by Jimmy McLarnin. He died of a heart attack in 1947 while refereeing a bout in New York.

CARROLL BOGGS, Cumberland Country Club pro, will play with Charles S. Catherman, Jr., of the local club, and Woody Harner and Bill Landers, manager of the Fairchild Aircraft Plant, Hagerstown, in the annual pro-amateur golf tournament next Monday at the Fountain Head Country Club in the Hub City.

Approximately sixty professionals will participate in the event.

FORT HILL High School lost the services of a popular young teacher and basketball coach when William R. Kirk, Jr., resigned to accept employment at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant. "Bill" has been in training for a supervisory post at the plant since June 3.

A product of Barton High School where he and his brother Bob were standout athletes, Bill won 12 letters in soccer, basketball and baseball during his four years on those teams at Frostburg State Teachers College. Bob holds the W. M. I. all-time basketball scoring record and also set a school record at Frostburg State.

Bill has coached jayvee basketball at Fort Hill High School for the past two years. He taught 8th grade mathematics at the Greenway Avenue school.

MANAGER Hugh Coleman reports that Midland Post, American Legion, had difficulty in raising funds to field a junior baseball team this season then the other night the post home was burglarized and the entire $95 in the baseball treasury was taken.

GOV. LEADER of Pennsylvania has accepted a compromise raising the cost of fishing licenses from $2.50 to $3.25 a year, beginning in 1958.

He signed into law a bill backed by the organized sportsmen of the state calling for an increase far below the $2.50 boost originally sought by the Fish Commission.

Orioles Beat Cleveland In Eleventh, 5-4

Hits By Triandos, Nieman, Busby Win

CLEVELAND, July 11 (AP)—Eleventh-inning singles by Bob Nieman, Gus Triandos and Jim Busby gave the Baltimore Orioles a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader tonight.

The Indians scored one in the 11th on a double by pinch hitter Larry Raines and a single by Al Smith. But George Zuverink, third Baltimore pitcher, fanned Bob Avila to end the game.

The Orioles' 11th inning rally started when Bob Nieman's easy grounder took a bad hop and hit Avila in the face. Nieman was given a single and went to second on a wild pitch. Triandos' single scored Joe Durham, running for Nieman. Triandos took second on the throw to the plate and scored on Busby's hit.

Hartack Is Not Seriously Hurt

CHICAGO, July 11 — (INS) — Two physicians tending ace Jockey Willie Hartack, who was thrown from his mount at Arlington Park, said today that he may be released from the hospital Friday.

A joint statement issued by track physician Dr. Herman Carr and Dr. Charles Heck, Chicago orthopedic specialist, confirmed that Hartack suffered no fracture in "the body of the vertebra," but said it was "possible there is a fracture in the transverse process, which is not in the vertebra itself, but on the wing of the spine."

Hartack, the nation's leading jockey since 1955, was permitted out of bed this morning, to see how he reacted to injuries suffered yesterday. Doctors said he appears to be recovering, but it is extremely doubtful that he could resume riding by Saturday.

Three Tied In Canadian Open Golf

Hawkins, Ransom, Ford Shoot 136s

KITCHENER, Ont., July 11 (AP)—The scramble for the top spot in the $25,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament became wide-open today as three players—Henry Ransom, Doug Ford and Fred Hawkins—shared the half - way lead with six-under-par 136s.

But it was young Gay Brewer Jr. of Cincinnati who provided most of the excitement on this ideal golf day with a record equalling 65.

The 25-year-old former University of Kentucky student who has been a pro only a year and a half, toured the front nine in a record 30 strokes. He came home in 35—one under par — to match the course record held by little Moe Norman of Kitchener.

Brewer and four others — Pat Schwab of Dayton, Ohio, Bill Casper of Bonita, Calif., Ed (Porky) Oliver of Canton, Mass., and squatty Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex., were one stroke off the pace at 137.

Guardsmen Conquer South Enders, 10-8

The National Guard whipped the South End Merchants by the score of 10-8 in a Rec Softball League game yesterday at Post Field.

Eight of the winning team's runs were scored in the first inning.

Bob Wade, Sr., who came on in the 6th to replace Poland on the rubber for the Guards, forced Leamon to ground out with the bases full, ending a rally. Wade set down the South Enders in order in the final frame.

Dick Clay and Shinholt headed the National Guard batsmen with a triple and single each and the former starred afield with a throw from centerfield that cut down a runner at the plate in the fifth inning. Brown had three of South End's 13 hits. Leamon and Wright were the Merchants' fielding stars.

Conflicting reports came in on the games between St. Luke's and Western Maryland Railway. The railroaders reported a win via the forfeit route while St. Luke's claimed a win over Western Maryland. Score:

National Guard	801 000 1—10 13 0
South End	200 042 0— 8 13 0

Twigg, Poland (5), Wade (6) and Shinholt. Ketterman, Fisher (1) and Shaw. WP—Wade. LP—Fisher.

George Schoenadel Will Succeed Femi

George Schoenadel has taken over the management of the La-Vale Lions of the Bi-State Pony Baseball League, replacing Ted Femi, who has led the team for the past two years.

Schoenadel and Charles Krimm will continue to manage the La-Vale Orioles in the Pen-Mar Little League.

Hare Raising Registers 6th Straight Win

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 11 (AP) — Hare Raising, a four year old Apache colt claimed at Lincoln Downs for $6,000, today captured his sixth consecutive victory for his Cambridge, Mass., owners as he won the feature race at Narragansett Park.

His two and a half length margin spelled the seventh triumph in eight starts by Hare Raising for John and Peter Venuti.

John Venuti, Jr., son of one of the owners, who also trains the horse, broke Hare Raising in front and drove him to the finish of the mile and 70 yards in 1:42 2/5, one of the fastest races of that distance at the meeting.

Heavily played by the crowd of 11,344, Hare Raising paid $5.20, $3.40 and $2.40 after leading Pat and Beno Cirioni's Double Bid to the finish.

This victory added $2,100 to the earnings of Hare Raising, which now total $14,275 in his eight starts.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 11 (INS)—Jacques Bergerac, freshly divorced by Ginger Rogers who accused him of being "grumpy" and driving his car too fast, leaves for his native France in two weeks to star in "A Man and His Past." It's based on the novel by Constantin Weyer which won the 1956 French literary prize.

Quite a difference in Jacque's status on his return to Paris. He wasn't known except as a young man around Paris, before Ginger married him.

Rene Clement, who directed "The Sea Wall" with Tony Perkins, will direct "A Man And His Past" and William Rozier will produce. Shooting will be in Paris, Nice and Norway.

Jacques is due back in Hollywood in September to Ballyhoo MGM's movie "Les Girls" and I assume to continue his romance with his new pulse stopper, Joanna Barnes.

Dianne Foster, who hasn't been too happy since her divorce from Joel Murcott, is going to see if a change in locale will give her a fresh outlook. She told me that she leaves in four weeks for London to star in an untitled picture about Scotland Yard with the very popular British star Jack Hawkins. "It's a wonderful chance for me because John Ford is the director," she asid.

I asked Dianne if she is taking the twins. "Oh, yes," she replied. She isn't a stranger to London, having lived there some time ago. It's too bad that she and Joel can't settle their marriage problems since they are both genuinely fond of each other.

Carrying with her the new Cerulean mink jacket Harry Karl gave her for her birthday, Marie McDonald will plane out tomorrow to meet Bob Hope in Paris.

"Im going to Morocco with the Hope company to film a TV show with him," said Marie, who just returned today from a nightclub engagement in Reno.

"Will you see Mike Wilding?" I asked her. "He's in London, and I'll be in Paris and Morocco," she said, "so I don't know whether I'll have time," and added she had other nightclub commitments in the U.S.A.

Shoe manufacturer Harry Karl is again courting "The Body" and took over the entire Starlight Room at the Mapes Hotel in Reno for her birthday soiree.

According to Harriet Parsons, another fabulous career was born Monday night in Las Vegas. That wonderful clown Carol Channing of "Lend an Ear," "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and other Broadway hits, made her nightclug debut at the Tropicana, and proved again that she is one of the top satirists of our time.

Carol's impressions of Sophie Tucker, Marlene Dietrich, Tallulah Bankhead, Judy Garland and others are more than impersonations — they are hilarious and brilliant satire.

I hear through the grapevine that Terry Moore has been quietly tested at Warners for "Marjorie Morningstar's" girl friend. This means that Terry will go dramatic in a big way because the role calls for someone definitely on the plain side and this would be very offbeat for the Moore girl in view of the glamour impressions she's always tried to make.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Monica Lewis has something to really sing about. She and Jenning Lang are expecting a baby in November.

Glad to hear that Lucille Markey is recovering from a kidney operation she recently underwent in Kentucky. Admiral Gene hasn't left her side.

In a romantic mood, Rita Hayworth and James Hill, of Hecht - Hill - Lancaster, had the violinists at the Bantam Cock play the Hungarian Rhapsody over and over again.

Pat Boone visited his ancestor, Daniel Boone's grave at Frankfort, Ky., just a day before he, Arthur O'Connell and Shirley Jones were made Kentucky colonels. They have nothing on me, I'm a Kentucky colonel, too—but Daniel Boone isn't my ancestor.

All our local boys from Syracuse, Harry Joe Brown, Bill Lundigan, Gordon MacRae and others, will be given a special Syracuse night at the Coconut Grove by manager Gus Lampe, who hails from the same town.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Stock Market Approaches Historic High, Then Sags

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP) — The stock market balked at the threshold of its historic high today, closing on the downside after considerable churning.

Trading was heavy and speculative interest ran high.

After setting new 1957 peaks on two sessions this week, the market moved even further into new high ground for the year in early trading. But as profits were taken the list turned mixed. By mid-session it had registered a sharp decline. There was a brisk recovery from this, but in the final hour selling pressure made itself felt once again and the averages slid definitely to the downside.

Wall Street analsysts ascribed the performance to the technical condition of the market. Considerable switching was reported. There was no outstanding news to affect the overall tone.

Steels, oils, rails, motion pictures, radio-television and chemicals were generally lower. But airlines, which have been neglected, were up by fractions to around a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 50 cents to $187.80 with the industrials down $1.10, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,196 issues traded, losses outnumbered gains by 601 to 347. There were 62 new 1957 highs and 23 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,830,000 shares compared with 2,880,000 yesterday.

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—The government's new crop forecasts furnished all the news on the Board of Trade today—and most of it wasn't good news as far as futures traders were concerned.

Wheat, corn and oats dipped around two cents at times in liquidation brought about by forecasts that were higher than expected and caught traders by surprise. Rye was down more than three cents most of the day in selling influenced not only by a bearish crop report but by a weaker Canadian market.

Only One U.S. Governor Lacks Church Connection

All but one of the nation's 48 governors indicated a formal denominational connection in a religious survey just completed by the Washington bureau of the Methodist Information Service.

Thirteen of the nation's state governors are Methodists, the survey of their religious affiliations showed. Baptists are next in number with eight governors, followed by seven Episcopalians, six Presbyterians, five Roman Catholics, four Lutherans and two Congregational - Christians. One governor is Jewish, one is a Mormon and one listed no affiliation.

The survey paralleled in some respects a recent study made by the Division of National Missions which showed that in one third of the states (16) and the District of Columbia, the Methodist Church is the predominating Protestant denomination.

In more than one third of the other states (21) the Methodist Church was in second place. It is among the first four in the remaining states.

For some 250 years after the first lottery was held in the United States, in 1614, it was a major method of raising money for churches and colleges and for the building of roads and other public works.

Club Will Co-Sponsor Musical

A musical review was discussed by the Progressive Young Women's Club as its part of the Cresaptown fun festival. The club and the Potomac Valley Lay Health Group together will sponsor the revue, at 7:45, July 18. The festival is to be held July 14 through the 20th, on the school playgrounds.

Mrs. L. G. Bridgers was hostess for the meeting, at her home in Potomac Park. Mrs. Edward Shaffer presided and gave the thought for the month. The group repeated the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Garland Paxton read a poem, and Mrs. Harry Barton gave the history of "God of Our Fathers" and led the group singing. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Arthur Evans and Mrs. Walter Richardson. RWSC reports were given by Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Jack Leslie, Mrs. Paxton, Mrs. K. O. Nelson and Mrs. Evans. The latter named Mrs. Mabel White, Mrs. Harry Grimes, Mrs. James Armstrong and Mrs. Shaffer to serve on her committee for the theme booth.

The September 6 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Carlton Helmick, McMullen Highway.

Keyser Schedules Lifesaving Class

KEYSER — Classes in lifesaving will start at the Keyser swimming pool on July 22. Director John Shelton announced. Those taking the course will be divided into senior and junior classes.

Shelton said the senior division would include all those 16 years of age or over, or at least a junior in high school. The junior class will be composed of those from 10 to 16 years of age.

P. T. Dayton will be the instructor, and the class will be limited to 25, Shelton said.

Attorney Wins

they choose to play, from beginning to championship chess.

Feeling that if he were going to the trouble of playing correspondence chess in the big time he might as well play against the best, Mr. Doub reports he was presumptious enough to put himself in Class 1, hoping that with a little good fortune he might win a game.

Awarding Relaxation

He said he has found chess an awarding form of relaxation, and the best tonic a man can have to get his mind off everyday problems.

"You can't think of anything else," he said, "when you play chess."

Contrary to popular opinion, Mr. Doub explained, chess is not a slow game, but actually a very rapid one.

When a player appears to be staring at the board without moving a muscle, he is actually turning over in his mind the possible moves he can make and calculating which is the best move.

Sometimes, he said, this means the elimination of from 20 to 30 possible moves on the board.

He is an active member of the local chess club, which has changed its name to the Cumberland Chess Club. It meets on Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA.

The club has about 20 members, Mr. Doub reports, who represent all degrees of skill. "Some of them are much better players than I."

The club has played matches with similar organizations in Johnstown, Pa., and the United States Naval Academy.

Chess, the local attorney concluded, is not a game of luck . . . "There's no luck connected with it."

Both players start out evenly, and when a player loses a game he can blame nobody but himself.

"You just didn't move the right piece in the right place," he explained.

There's no such thing as a perfect game, he added, and a game usually is won by the player who makes the next to the last mistake."

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"If that wasn't the dullest game! Imagine, not even a single hit!"

Scout Troop 42 Plans To Camp

FROSTBURG — Dr. John B. Davis, local medical doctor, examined the scouts who will leave Sunday to attend the Boy Scout Camp at Camp Potomac near Oldtown. All are members of Troop 42, Boy Scouts, sponsored by First Methodist Church.

Check in time Sunday is 3 p.m. Following a physical recheck all boys will go to the waterfront where they will be classified for their swimming for the week as non-swimmers, beginners and swimmers. A camp fire for parents and friends will be held Thursday at dusk. Camp will end Saturday, July 20.

Central Class Plans Tenth Anniversary

LONACONING—Central High School, Class of 1947, will hold their class reunion on their tenth anniversary year on Saturday, August 31.

Mrs. Joseph Krumpach, Douglas Avenue, Lonaconing, is taking dinner reservations, which are due by Saturday, August 17. Members of the class have planned for this reunion at several meetings.

Cyclist, 8, Hit By Automobile

Bryan Horn, 8, of 321 Pulaski Street, was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital for left thigh and head injuries after he was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle at the corner of Pulaski and Columbia Streets.

Officer E. Gordon Hite investigated and said the driver of the car, E. T. Shaffer of 200 Wills Creek Avenue, said the lad ran into the side of the car with his bike.

More Direct

less chance for human error on long distance calls.

Once the new equipment goes into operation the only calls subscribers will dial on a two-letter, five-numeral basis will be those to PArkview 2 and 4, REdwood 8, ROger 7, COlony 4, DAvenport 4, and GReenleaf 8 telephones.

Numbers in the Lonaconing area will be reached by dialing the code number 301 before dialing HOmestead and the five numerals of the desired number.

All numbers in Oakland and elsewhere in Garrett County also must be preceded by the 301 code before dialing the desired number.

Work here at the local office where the new equipment was installed was done by Western Electric Company.

The telephone company is working to standardize dialing procedures throughout Maryland and only a few parts of the State remain without the direct dialing service.

Muntzing Named Director Of Co-Op

MOOREFIELD—H. Gus Muntzing was named as one of the four new directors in the Rockingham Poultry Marketing Cooperative at the sixteenth annual meeting of the cooperative in Broadway, Va. He was chosen for a three-year term.

Vic Pringle was appointed general manager of the Co-Op, succeeding Thomas W. Heitz, who has been manager since 1940.

More than 300 persons were present at the annual meeting, representing the Broadway, Alma, Moorefield, Stuarts Draft and Richmond plants. Walter Petit, former manager of the Moorefield plant and now procurement manager of the entire cooperative, and D. W. Petit, who succeeded Walter Petit as Moorefield manager, were among the officials present.

Trial Magistrate Has Busy Day

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason had a busy day in court yesterday handling 26 motor violations involving $280 in fines.

Most of the cases handled by Magistrate Mason were speeding cases while one was for reckless driving and another was for having an inadequate muffler.

The speeding cases came as a result of the operation of radar by the State Police the past few days on Braddock Road, LaVale, and along Route 220 at the Celanese.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick also heard two motor cases yesterday. He fined one man $25 for permitting an unauthorized person to operate a vehicle, and a driver was fined $10 for operating a vehicle without a license.

Lonaconing's Oldest

decorated five churches in Cumberland, three in Midland and many others throughout the area. During the days of the New Deal following the depression, he supervised the painting at Frostburg and Lonaconing NYA buildings. The Lonaconing NYA building is now the VFW home.

Mr. Eichhorn is the last surviving member of his immediate family, although he has a grandson, a great granddaughter and two great-great grandchildren.

His son, August Eichhorn, (named after his grandfather) died at the age of 54. Helen Eichhorn, "Pop's" granddaughter, is married to Gerald Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Paris have two children, Robert and Geraldine. Robert is in Bethesda and Geraldine is a nurse at Memorial Hospital. She is married to William E. Smith of Piedmont and they have two children, who are "Pop's" great-great grandchildren and direct descendents.

Mr. Eichhorn had a sister, Miss Minnie Eichhorn, who died several years ago, and his brothers are also all deceased. His wife, Ann McMillan Eichhorn, died in 1942, about a year after his only son died.

During the recent homecoming, "Pop" talked with many who came to see him, and went down town a couple of times to visit. One of his best days of the week was when Sampson Green of Hambleton, W. Va., a contemporary and one of his oldest friends came to visit.

Although most of his early friends are gone, he knows almost everyone in the community and says he never wanted to leave Lonaconing because "my friends are here."

Despite his advanced years, his health remains good, he reads without glasses, his hearing is good, he eats well and except for slight arthritis in his legs, he does very well physically and mentally.

His pasttime, however, is sitting on the porch with his pipe, watching his friends and neighbors, now in the fourth and fifth generations, pass by.

Boy Found Guilty On Auto Counts

A 16-year-old Mt. Savage boy was placed on one-year probation in Trial Magistrate Court yesterday after being found guilty of two motor vehicle violations.

The youth, charged with driving without a license and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, was arrested Wednesday at his home by Trooper Willis Foreman of the Maryland State Police.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason found the boy guilty and sentenced him to 90 days in the Allegany County Jail and fined him $111.50 on the charges.

Magistrate Mason then suspended both the fine and jail sentence, pointing out that he did not believe the boy should be committed to the Maryland House of Correction, and that the fine would be paid by his mother, and would not serve as punishment to the youth.

Magistrate Mason, noting that it was not within his authority to send the boy to a training school, placed the youth on probation. The conditions include that he be in his home by 11 p. m. daily, not drive a motor vehicle and obey all laws.

Huge Railroad Crane Derails In South End

City Firemen Are Summoned

A huge 220-ton Diesel powered crane derailed on the repair tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in South Cumberland yesterday afternoon when it was thrown off center while the operator was transferring the cistern of a sump car.

No one was injured. T. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the B&O, said last night the accident occurred about 12:45 p. m. and the huge piece of equipment was rerailed by 6:40 p. m.

Mr. Klauenberg said a cistern on the sump car used for reclaimation of waste oil from journal packing had developed a leak and was being removed from the trucks to be repaired.

The operator apparently did not realize the 8,000 gallon tank had an accumulation of hardened oil in it, adding to the weight.

The cistern was being transferred about 18 inches above ground and when the crane was thrown off center it toppled to the left of the rails.

South End firemen received a call to the scene when Diesel oil from the crane and oxygen from a tank caught fire.

Water and foam were used by the firemen to keep the blaze under control until the fire brigade of the railroad got organized and extinguished the blaze.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the City Fire Department's explosive meter, used in detecting natural gas fumes was dispatched to the scene when it was believed gas fumes were escaping in the vicinity of the wreckage.

City Firemen received a call at 1:31 p. m. and were on the scene nearly two hours. Mr. Klauenberg said the huge crane sustained about $500 damage. The accident is being investigated by railroad officials.

Western Maryland Folklore

Dr. Dorothy Howard, English professor at Frostburg State Teachers College, is showing William H. Johnson, president of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, some of the relics which are part of the College Folk Museum which she is developing. Dr. Howard, who was the principal speaker at yesterday's Kiwanis meeting, told ten tales that she has collected from some of Allegany County's oldtimers. Collection of Western Maryland folklore is her special hobby. She discussed yarns told her by Lige Skidmore of Morantown and Michael McGeady of Midland and fabulous accounts she has heard about the activities of the late Ike Morgan of Klondyke and the late Davey Davies of near Frostburg. In the picture Dr. Howard is holding a pewter trencher which dates from Revolutionary War days. The book on the table is McGuffey's Eclectic Reader, published in 1881.

SRC Chairman May Request Gas Tax Boost

Highway Needs Reported Heavier

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP)—The chairman of the Maryland roads commission indicated he may ask the 1958 General Assembly to consider an increase in the State gasoline tax to seven cents a gallon.

Appearing before a special legislative committee, Robert O. Bonnell said the tax may have to be raised one cent because of increasing highway needs and rising costs. Besides the State levy, there is also a three-cents-a-gallon federal tax on gasoline.

Bonnell said the roads commission this year had to dedicate $3,150,000 of construction funds to highway maintenance to make up for money lost through the repeal of provisions for higher motor vehicle registration fees.

The SRC has been trying since the 12-year road construction program began in 1952 to have the registration fees increased. The Legislature postponed the increases four times and finally repealed them altogether at the 1957 session.

Bonnell said a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax would provide about eight million dollars a year. He said if such an increase is granted, it should be earmarked for highway construction.

The roads chairman suggested that a continuous survey of Maryland's road situation be made, with the results given to each legislative session showing changes in the traffic pattern. He said the tremendous increase in traffic has resulted in some roads carrying many times the volume of traffic for which they were designed.

As for costs, he said prices are now so far beyond estimates for improvements under the 12-year plan that it would be less expensive in some instances to build new roads on new locations.

The legislative committee on roads is headed by Sen. Wheatley (D-Montgomery). It has set up a series of regional meetings with local officials and legislative delegations in August and September.

Lonaconing's Oldest Man Compares Homecomings

"Pop" Eichhorn, 91, Recalls Many Events

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

During the Old Home Week or Homecoming celebration held last week at Lonaconing, an event sponsored on a huge scale each 10 years by the Good Will Volunteer Fire Company, one of the most interested participants was one of the county's oldest residents, George L. "Pop" Eichhorn.

Mr. Eichhorn will be 92 in October, and this week is still talking about the scores of people who came to visit with him during the Homecoming, and also about the colorful firemen's parade which he went "downtown" last Friday night to see.

"Pop" says the parade was a very good one, but he thinks the Homecoming celebration of 1907, just 50 years ago topped them all. That year, he recalls, the biggest parade ever held in the Georges Creek Region was staged, and the famous Scotch Kiltie Band of Pittsburgh, was a special attraction. After the parade this band played for street dancing.

Horse-Drawn Floats

Every business place in Lonaconing and many in the area entered gaily colored floats, all drawn by beautiful teams of horses. There was no such thing here then as "these big powerful fire trucks" and all the firemen from miles around used fire wagons, hose carts and other kinds of equipment. "The parade was led by a man dressed like Uncle Sam, and for some reason, playing a violin," "Pop" chuckles.

The town really went out for decorations in those days. Everywhere colorful bunting, streamers, pennants and banners were displayed and a big arch was erected across Main Street from the Opera House, now Coffman-Fisher store, to the former fire hall directly opposite. On top of the arch, Mr. Eichhorn remembers, was erected a "dummy fireman," or a mannequin clad in fireman's uniform.

The first big fire Mr. Eichhorn remembers was in 1881 when almost all the structures on Main Street, Jackson Street and part of Douglas Avenue burned. He also says one of the most troublesome and long-lasting coal strikes in the area was in 1882. Along about 1883, he remembers a big flood caused the death of five Barton persons and Mr. Eichhorn lost his place of business in the high water. The flood was caused when heavy rains swelled Georges Creek.

Mr. Eichhorn is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Eichhorn and was born in Frostburg. The family moved to Lonaconing when he was 12.

There August Eichhorn engaged in the undertaking business at the Main Street location where Eichhorn's Funeral Home is still located. "Pop" Eichhorn learned the business from his father, and also engaged in painting and decorating. It was his paint and decoration shop near Railroad Street which was damaged by the flood.

Mr. Eichhorn was one of the first area men to go to Pittsburgh to study the profession of embalming and he remembers that he received his "diploma" there after studying with a Professor Sullivan. He was 18 years old at the time.

Painted Churches

He continued in the painting and decorating business for some 40 years and at one time specialized in painting churches. He

Two Persons Hospitalized In Auto Crash

Vehicles Collide Near Rawlings

Two persons, injured in the headon collision of two automobiles about one mile north of Rawlings on U. S. Route 220 yesterday shortly before 5 p. m., were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bittinger, 21, of Westernport, an expectant mother, and driver of one of the cars, suffered premature rupture of the membranes in her body which may cause the early birth of her child, State Police said. Mrs. Violet Uber, 47, of Swanton, suffered a fracture of the left arm and face lacerations. Both were admitted to the hospital.

Mrs. Uber was a passenger in Mrs. Bittinger's car along with Gretchen Uber, 8, who had a bump on her head and was X-rayed but not admitted at the hospital.

Mrs. Lillian Fazenbaker, 53, of 93 Main Street, Westernport, had leg abrasions and also was not admitted. She, too was a passenger in the Bittinger vehicle.

Trooper Robert Wolford of the State Police investigated and said Mrs. Bittinger was traveling south on Route 220 at the time of the accident.

Earl Johnson, 27, of Wellersburg, Pa., was operating the second vehicle, headed north, Trooper Wolford said.

Johnson apparently attempted to pass another car when the way was not clear, the officer said, and collided headon with the Bittinger automobile. Johnson, traveling alone, was not hurt.

No charges have been preferred pending further investigation of the accident, the state policeman stated.

Mrs. Starcher Endorsed For School Board

Receives Backing Of PTA Council Unit

The executive committee of the Allegany County Council of PTAs last night unanimously endorsed Mrs. L. Brooks Starcher, 557 Patterson Avenue, for the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Stanley G. Buckley on the Allegany County Board of Education.

The committee said it will recommend Mrs. Starcher's appointment to Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. Mrs. Buckley's term would have expired in 1959. She died July 4.

Earlier this week the Allegany County Republican Committee submitted the names of Mrs. William H. Ryan, Mrs. John J. Hafer and Mrs. Eric Roeder for consideration for the appointment.

The PTA council committee said last night at its meeting in the Board of Education building that it believed Mrs. Starcher was qualified to fill the position as she has been active in PTA work for 22 years, has done local and council work, attended West Virginia Wesleyan College, taught in Upshur High School in Buckhannon, W. Va., is active in Centre Street Methodist Church affairs, was assistant superintendent of the Sunday School, chairman of the church Bible school, on the executive board of the church and a member of the WSCS, and that she is a past vice chairman of the county GOP committee.

There were 15 members of the executive committee of the PTA council present at last night's meeting which was presided over by Dr. Adam Baer, vice president of the first district of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The council committee also made plans last night for Allegany County's representation at the summer conference of the Maryland Congress at College Park next Monday through Wednesday.

SCS Office Check Set

Martin M. Gordon, acting work unit conservationist, of the Soil Conservation Service here, said yesterday that the annual inspection of his office will be conducted next Tuesday and Wednesday by James H. Smith, of Hagerstown, engineer specialist for the SCS.

Various forms, diaries, and records maintained at the office during the year will be inspected and a tour of an area farm or farms will be made to determine Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee practices worked out by Mr. Gordon and personnel of his office.

Among the practices are contour strip cropping, diversion terracing, tile drainage lines and livestock water ponds. Martin makes surveys for the various practices applied for by farmers through the ASC office in charge of Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover.

The office's safety program will be checked as well as the operation of information and education programs.

After the completion of the practices, Mr. Gordon makes his inspection to qualify them. Last year his office underwent inspection in October. Accompanying Mr. Smith on the farm tour will be Mr. Gordon and Stuart Delbrook, conservation aide of the SCS. Every district in the state undergoes a similar inspection each year.

School Board Acquires Land On East Side

Will Expand Playground

Land which will be used for playground facilities and a new addition to East Side Elementary School has been acquired on East Street, according to three deeds recorded yesterday in the office of the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county public schools, said the property has been acquired because a section of the present playground will be confiscated when the State Roads Commission constructs the Cumberland Thruway.

The property of Ralph D. Hampson and Madeline W. Hampson, located on the west side of the street, has been acquired as well as the property of Nial F. Weber and Margaret L. Weber, his wife, which is also on the same side of the street. This property will be utilized for playground facilities.

A parcel of land, on the opposite side of the dead-end street, owned by Paul F. Keller Jr. and Virginia Lee Keller, was purchased to provide space for the proposed new addition to the school.

In return for the confiscated land, arrangements were made to acquire the properties necessary for the playground space which will be eliminated.

The State Roads Commission will reimburse the Board of Education for the property purchased. The SRC also has agreed to grade the new playground area as well as the remainder of the present playground.

At the time of the thruway construction work arrangements will be made to raze the three houses now located on the properties which have been purchased.

Mr. Webster said the proposed addition to the school has been included in the county school budget. The addition will afford classroom, office, health room and toilet facilities.

More Direct Dialing Will Start

Greater Service Begins Sunday

Local and Ridgeley telephone subscribers will be provided with additional direct distance dialing starting Sunday morning, according to Robert G. Garner, local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The new service Mr. Garner said, will permit one and two party Cumberland and Ridgeley customers to dial 90 cities and towns in Maryland direct by dialing the code number 301.

In addition, it will enable the same subscribers to dial all exchanges in Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Jersey City, Newark, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Alexandria, all five boroughs in New York City, and over 170 other cities in nine states by dialing a specified three-number code.

Mr. Garner said a direct distance dialing directory with instructions and the listing of the cities and their code numbers is being mailed to all the local office's customers.

When the new service goes into effect Sunday at 8 a. m. it will be possible to get the Frostburg operator from Cumberland by dialing 689. This service will be possible for all Cumberland subscribers whether they have a one or two party line or not. Ridgeley customers will still dial operator to get Frostburg.

The additional dial service will eliminate the possibility of a person dialing a long distance number by mistake and will provide automatic mechanical billing and

Civil Defense Alert To Begin At Noon Today

County To Take Part For Full 55 Hours

Charles G. Smith, deputy director of Allegany County Civil Defense, said last night the county will participate as required in the full 55-hour Operation Alert which begins today at noon.

The time and targets for theoretical bomb dorps will be made known when local control centers open sealed instructions which have been received from federal headquarters.

Mr. Smith said Sherley Ewing, state Civil Defense director, will notify all units when the sealed orders are to be opened.

Trial Run

He stated that this is a trial run without prior instructions and is being conducted in this manner for the first time.

"It will enable us to make our own decisions and to determine what action is to be taken as soon as we know the situation from our sealed instructions," Mr. Smith added.

As far as is now known, the deputy director said, the general public in Allegany County will not participate in this test. No sirens will be sounded here.

Meanwhile much speculation continues on the U. S. Army personal and a number of civilians apparently from Washington, D. C., who have moved into Frostburg.

College Activities

Their activities at Frostburg State Teachers College are believed to be a part of Operation Alert. Army officials still say they cannot divulge their mission and county and state Civil Defense officials report they know nothing about the matter.

Civil Defense headquarters in Pikesville will coordinate Maryland's part in Operation Alert which is a national exercise to improve the country's readiness in the event of enemy attack.

The largely paper operation will begin when reports of theoretical bomb drops are made to headquarters.

State and local CD directors will not know locations of the make-believe bomb bursts or the megaton size of the theoretical nuclear weapons until sealed envelopes prepared by federal officials are opened after the beginning of the exercise.

After the location and extent of the pretend-bombing is known, local and state CD agencies will go into action, taking simulated steps to aid in survival, evacuation and recovery needs for the various localities.

In most sections of Maryland, the public in general will not be asked to participate. The Maryland suburbs of Washington will be an exception.

In Prince Georges County, the public has been asked to take cover when a 3-minute sound on CD sirens and horns signals the beginning of the "attack" sometime in the afternoon.

Residents of the District of Columbia, Montgomery County and nearby areas in Virginia do not need to take cover but have been asked to familiarize themselves with the warning signals.

Many of Maryland's county and Baltimore City CD units will operate during the entire 55-hour period, but some counties will only take part for a few hours at the start of the drill.

Attorney Wins At International Chess

By C. W. BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

A local man late last month made the "next to the last mistake" in an international chess tournament and won his first game in the big time play.

He is Albert A. Doub, local attorney, who has been playing a correspondence chess game with a Goteborg, Sweden, chess enthusiast for about 18 months.

Mr. Doub is still engaged in other chess games with players in Berlin and Erfurt, Germany, Budapest, Hungary, and two in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Revolution Stopped Game

One of the games lagged badly last fall when the revolution raged in Hungary.

Mr. Doub did not hear from his Budapest opponent for three months, and he and other members of the chess section expressed great concern for the Hungarian player's safety.

Fortunately he survived the ordeal and is continuing the play with his usual skill.

The correspondence chess games are played by numbers indicating moves, which are forwarded by air mail post cards. Rules call for a reply within three days of receipt of an opponent's move.

Mr. Doub has had no language difficulties in the international chess games since all of his opponents write English, some of them extremely well. He admits he is somewhat embarrassed that he cannot reply in the native tongues of the other players.

Mr. Doub learned the essentials of chess while a boy from his aunt, the late Miss Margaret Cochran, of Staunton, Va.

He retained a slight interest in the game for many years but did not take the hobby at all seriously until about six years ago, when a group of local men organized the Staunton Chess Club here.

Played Against Six

As his interest quickened, he entered a correspondence chess tournament sponsored by Chess Review, publication of a national chess organization. In his first mail tournament, Mr. Doub played against six men in the United States.

The games lasted for a year and ended in three draws, two wins and one loss.

Several months later, he entered another section of correspondence chess and won the section with a score of five wins and one draw.

With this encouragement, he reports, he was tricked into entering the international play sponsored by the International Chess Federation, with headquarters in Amsterdam, Holland.
